VANDALS TRY TO RIP DOWN PHONE CABLE

Kidnapped Weinberger Baby Is Dead

Sheriff's Office Believes Effort Made With Auto

Rope Found Hanging Near E. Ohio St. And Kingston Pike

The Pickaway County Sheriff's office reported today that vandals tried to tear down a telephone cable and other wires near the intersection of E. Ohio St. and the Kingston Pike.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said a rope was found hanging from wires in that vicinity after telephone customers had notified the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company that their lines were out of order. A group of repairmen sent out by the company to investigate the trouble called the sheriff's department.

The attempted vandalism, reported to the sheriff's branch about 8 a. m. today, came less than 24 hours after Governor Frank Lausche, at a meeting in Columbus, appealed to striking union workers to avoid all forms of violence.

The governor also asked company officials to provide service while negotiators continue to try to settle the dispute, now under way for more than a month. The Communication Workers of America and Ohio Consolidated are apparently deadlocked on terms of a new contract.

DEPUTY Radcliff said the vandals last night apparently had thrown one end of a rope around several wires to wrap them together and pull down a cable among them. The bottom end of the rope, the sheriff's department believes, was attached to an automobile.

Some of the lines were torn from their fastenings during the effort, but the deputy said the rope apparently snapped at the bottom end. Tire tracks found at the scene supported the theory that the vandals tried to use a car in the unsuccessful job, Radcliff said.

He added that the rope used was identified by the phone company as a type of "maintenance rope" used by the company. The piece of rope found, with a metal hook attached to the end that was thrown among the wires, is being held by the sheriff's department.

Deputy Radcliff said a full investigation of the incident will be made.

Bill Stewart, local spokesman here for the striking union, denied that any union members were involved in the latest vandalism. He has also denied the union had anything to do with earlier cable-cutting incidents in the Circleville area.

"WORM WEARING MITTENS" This Doodle is actually a scale drawing of the Positronic Rodicrabble Dr. Schwine recently installed in his Robot, 888-35B. When all of the Overhauling is finished old 888 will not only have Power Walking and Hydramatic Kneeing, but he'll be able to talk. It'll be the first talking Robot in history and Dr. Schwine deserves a lot of credit. He spent years making electronic sound tapes of expressions 888 would need to use. Such as "What's new?" "Who ya shovin'?" and "Gimme a quart of oil, please!" but at the last minute he hit upon a much simpler idea. He is going to take off the top of 888's head and install a cage inside for a Parrot.

Cab Driver Tells Authorities Of Hiding Victim

Financial Difficulties Blamed For Deed

By Angelo LaMarea

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—The decomposed body of kidnapped Peter Weinberger, with a safety pin still intact, was found today in roadside shrubbery 51 days after he was taken from the patio of his Westbury, Long Island, home.

It was found where FBI agents said Angelo J. LaMarea, a cab driver, told them he had abandoned the month-old child on July 5, the day after he took the baby.

LaMarea, 31-year-old father of two children, was arrested Thursday by FBI agents and Nassau County police and charged with kidnapping. Financial difficulties prompted the act. He had asked $2,000 ransom.

More than 50 Nassau County police and FBI agents moved on the abandonment spot at 9:15 a. m. It was situated alongside a cutoff road from Northern State Parkway leading to Plainview where LaMarea lives. It is only eight miles east of the Weinberger home.

Forming a line an arm's length apart, the searchers moved slowly through the underbrush. Shortly after 10:30 a. m. the body was found.

ASS'T CHIEF Inspect James Farrell said the baby had not been buried. He apparently had been placed in the underbrush, then summer storms whipped up honeysuckle vines and leaves to blanket the body.

A Nassau County police spokesman said LaMarea claimed the baby was alive when LaMarea abandoned him.

"Even if the child was alive when it was placed on the ground, it may well constitute murder," Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said.

Conviction of kidnapping, like first degree murder, carries a maximum penalty of death in New York State.

Authorities said LaMarea admitted abandoning the child after being frightened away by the presence of police and newsmen when he showed up at an appointed spot to pick up $2,000 ransom money.

A ransom note was found on the patio of the Weinberger home where the baby had been taking a nap in his carriage.

Since the kidnapping, thousands of handwriting specimens were scrutinized from public records and compared with the ransom note and other letters received by the Weinbergers.

It was not disclosed how, and from what source, authorities picked up the writing clue which led them to LaMarea.

POLICE SAID the kidnapping seemed to have been a one-man job. LaMarea's only previous arrest record was on a bootlegging charge for which he was given a suspended sentence last year.

LaMarea moved to Plainview four months ago from another section of Long Island.

It was said he does not know the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger, but prepared the ransom note in advance and then went looking for a child to kidnap.

Police said LaMarea cited about $1,800 in debts — including back payments on a refrigerator and storm windows — as motivating the kidnapping.

Neighbors of LaMarea said he, his wife Donna and their two children, Vincent, 9, and Vivian, 6, were quiet but friendly people and that the children were polite and well-mannered.

Police said members of LaMarea's family were not involved in the case.

Police Chief Replies In Row Over 'Dollar Day' Parking

Police Chief Elmer Merriman was on record today with a strong protest against the accusation that he was responsible for a parking tag bungle on "Dollar Day" earlier this month.

The mixup came into public focus at the latest meeting of city council when the lawmakers were told how 42 tickets were issued for overtime parking on the bargain shopping day. In the past, the arrangement has been to announce free parking privileges on "Dollar Day".

Outstanding in his reply to statements made before council was Merriman's claim that nobody "even mentioned parking" to him prior to the August 9 "Dollar Day". Council was given the impression that the chief had been asked to have police "look the other way" on overtime parking that particular day, and that he had refused to do so.

"I didn't even think about it being 'Dollar Day' until around noon-time," Merriman declared. "Then I was asked if the shoppers were being permitted to park free, and I replied that nobody had said anything to me about it."

THE underlying argument is far from a new one at city hall. A major debate on the subject was held in council about a year ago, at which time the chief pointed out there is nothing in the city's parking ordinance to exempt "Dollar Day" shoppers. His critics in the dispute, however, insist no special provision should be needed in the city law.

The chief said he was puzzled by the blame heaped upon him in connection with the August 9 "Dollar Day". He said:

"Somebody, somewhere in all this matter is badly confused. There certainly must be a very serious misunderstanding. I most certainly did not go to the men on my force and tell them anything—one way or the other — about parking on this past 'Dollar Day'. In fact, I didn't even think about it until around noontime. . . .

"The safety director (Miller Fissell) prior to 'Dollar Day' never said a single thing to me about the parking on that day. After 'Dollar Day', of course, there was a good bit of talk about it."

"Then too, why didn't Harold Clifton come to me before council met and ask me for my side of the story? He never said a word to me before council met."

(Councilman Harold Clifton touched off the criticism against the police chief, asserting it was likely the parking tag bungle will cost downtown stores thousands of dollars worth of business.)

"BUT HOW, in view of this, do those councilmen justify what was (Continued on Page Two)

Fissell Tells Plan For 1-Way Alleys

Safety Director Says Change Will Be Made Easy On Public

City Safety Director Miller Fissell announced today start of a gradual, easy-on-the-public program to enforce one-way traffic rules on all of the alleys that intersect Main St. in the central downtown area.

The plan involves only alleys running north-south between Scioto and Pickaway streets, and the one-way rules will be in force only between Watt or Pinckney and Franklin streets. Alleys running north from Main will be one-way in that direction, and — with two exceptions — alleys running south from Main will be one-way south.

Fissell, who gave city council an outline of the plan when the lawmakers met last Tuesday night, said it will be "about 60 days or so before we begin to take a serious look at how the idea is working out." Meanwhile, he pointed out, signs are being posted and the public will have ample opportunity to get acquainted with the new arrangement.

The safety department chief explained the move is being made on the recommendation of qualified traffic engineers and on the basis

First Ladies Have Big Day At Convention

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It was a big and joyful day Thursday for the women of the Eisenhower-Nixon team.

When President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon stood before the Republican National Convention to accept renomination, their wives were at their sides, carrying big bouquets of red roses and sharing the plaudits of the delegates.

Mamie Eisenhower wore a royal purple satin dress and hat as she waved a white gloved hand at the crowds.

Pat Nixon, in a charcoal gray channel suit and black velvet hat, told reporters that she would campaign with her husband—"We go as a team."

The children of both families missed the convention. The Nixons said they had thought about bringing their two daughters, Patricia, 10, and Julie, 8. But the girls stayed in southern California with their grandmother.

Delegates Better Stay On The Job

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The 775 delegates to the national convention of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union punch a time clock each time they enter the meeting room for a convention session.

The attendance record will be forwarded to each delegate's home town local, which pays his expenses.

Peaches' Death Brings Probe

Famed Child Bride Dies After Fall In Tub

NEW YORK (AP)—Peaches Brown— the overweight, headline-making child bride of the 1920s—died Thursday at the age of 46 under circumstances which aroused the ire of authorities.

She slipped and fell in the bathroom of her New York apartment Sunday, never regained consciousness and died Thursday in New York Hospital.

Angered because no report had been made to his office, Acting Medical Examiner Sidney Weinberg sent a city ambulance to the hospital and had the body removed to Bellevue Hospital morgue for an autopsy. Police started an investigation.

The four-times married woman was found unconscious at 9 a. m. Sunday by her mother, Mrs. Caroline Heenan. Mrs. Heenan called a physician.

Because of Peaches' medical history of epilepsy, alcoholism and malnutrition, the doctor directed that she be kept "warm and comfortable."

At 5 p. m. when the doctor visited Peaches she found a bump over "Peaches' right ear and called an ambulance for the unconscious woman.

The medical examiner's office was not notified of her death. Dr. Eric Pike, the hospital's pathology resident, said the hospital planned its own autopsy since Mrs. Heenan had given it permission to do so.

For this reason, plus the medical history, he said, the hospital did not consider it necessary to notify the medical examiner. The medical examiner heard of the death through newsmen.

IT WILL BE the first time Circleville has ever attempted a plan for one-way traffic in alleys, Fissell said.

Two alleys running counter to the pattern will be the two running south from Main between Court and Pickaway. Fissell pointed out that these two flank the fire station when they come out on Franklin St., and that "we naturally don't want to be turning traffic in that direction—on account of the fire department."

Consequently, both these alleys will be one-way north from Franklin. West of Court, the south-from-Main alleys will all be one-way south.

West Charting Report To Egypt On Suez Result

French Prepare For Trouble In Event Any Develops

LONDON (AP)—A five-nation committee today charted plans to hand Egypt's President Nasser a West-sponsored proposal for international control of the Suez Canal. But the French stepped up military preparations in case the Arab leaders say no.

Secretary of State Dulles joined the committee in charting its approach to Nasser.

The session ended at noon. One member said the meeting "dealt entirely with procedure." No definite time was set for another meeting, but the members were told to remain on call.

Before the five-power group met its chairman, Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies, said, "We may consider whether to approach Colonel Nasser through the Egyptian ambassador to try and find the time and place for meeting with him."

France's cabinet was called into session to consider what action to take if Nasser does turn down the West-sponsored proposal.

Reports from the French capital said troops were being readied for transport across the Mediterranean, warships had been sent to sea on "maneuvers," and several air squadrons had been regrouped for possible movement.

Special paratroop units were reported being assembled in Algeria, where the bulk of France's armed forces is already fighting nationalist rebels.

Locate Wreckage Of Missing Plane

TOKYO (AP)—Search planes and ships today found wreckage and two empty life rafts presumed to be from a U. S. Navy patrol plane which disappeared after radioing it was being attacked off the Red China coast.

First reports of the finding said there was no indication of what happened to the 16 American airmen aboard the missing plane, a four-engine P4M Mercator the Navy said was on routine patrol and training mission from Japan.

Navy officials refused to speculate on the possibility that Communist boats had picked up at least some of the men.

The State Department has asked Britain, which has diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime, to find out if the Reds have any information about the plane and its crew.

Navy spokesmen at the huge Hokusuka base said the first wreckage and rafts were found floating a few miles south of a Communist-held island about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai.

MRS. ELIZABETH DUHIG of Chicago, an expectant mother, has adopted her husband's 11 children by a previous marriage. Nine of the children shown with Mrs. Duhig are (from left) Patrick, 4; Peggy, 10; Thomas, 12; Mary, 15; Eileen, 14; James, 8; John, 5; Ann, 3, and Cathy (held by Mrs. Duhig), 21 months. Two are absent.

Ike Seeks Peace As Topmost Goal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Eisenhower fixed "peace for all time" as the goal of the Republican "party of the future" in accepting formally its nomination for another four years in the White House.

Accepting "humbly but confidently" command of the GOP's 1956 campaign for national leadership, he told cheering delegates at Thursday night's windup session of the party's centennial convention it is not enough to promise "the young who fight the wars" that there will be "peace in our time."

"There is only one peace now, and that is peace for all time," he declared.

He said thermonuclear war had become "not just tragic, but preposterous."

"With such weapons," he said, "there can be no victory for anyone. Plainly, the objective now must be to see that such a war does not occur at all."

Banker Sentenced In Illinois Scandal

CHICAGO (AP)—Edward A. Hintz, Chicago banker involved in the million dollar fake state check scandal, pleaded guilty today to federal charges and was sentenced to prison for three years.

The banker's plea was a reversal of an earlier plea of innocence to a government indictment charging him with misapplying $872,000 of federally insured state funds.

Hintz's troubles resulted from his association with Orville E. Hodge, ousted Republican state auditor, who this week began serving a 12-15 year state prison term and a 10 year federal term. Hodge pleaded guilty to theft of more than a million dollars of state funds while he was auditor.

Most of the fraudulent state warrants checks through which Hodge obtained state funds were cashed at the Southmoore bank while Hintz was president. He resigned when the scandals became public.

Chiang's Nationalist air force on Formosa said it had no planes in the area at the time and none of its planes were missing.

The Communist broadcast said the plane its airmen attacked trespassed over several Communist-held islands and flew off toward the southeast after it was hit.

The Navy said the Mercator's flight plan called for it to fly south well out over international waters, toward Formosa and then to circle back northeastward to Formosa.

Publisher's Son Dies In Alabama

DOTHAN, Ala.—Robert B. Owens, 35, former newsmen of Van Wert and Lima, died unexpectedly this morning of a heart attack in Dothan.

He was employed in the advertising department of the Dothan Eagle and was the son of Ford Owens, publisher of the Van Wert Times-Bulletin.

The Times-Bulletin is one of five newspapers in the Galvin chain.

and shining new world . . . a world in which back-breaking toil and long hours will not be necessary."

Nixon told the delegates shortly before he accepted his second-place nomination that "we have peace in the world today, but we are not going to rest on our laurels and be satisfied with the achievements of 3½ years."

It was a gay, colorful convention session that stormed approval for its two nominees. "I like Ike" balloons floated down from the ceiling. Eisenhower joined in bouncing them around as he waited through preliminary ceremonies on the platform to begin his formal speech.

When he arose before the throng, the 65-year-old Eisenhower said he wanted to express his "great satisfaction" that the convention had decided to keep intact for this year's race the same team that won in 1952 against a Democratic ticket headed by the same man the GOP's opposition has named this year—Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson's running mate this year is Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Eisenhower said he would not attempt any eulogy of Nixon but added with vigor:

"Whatever dedicated, conscientious loyalty will do for America, he will do."

FOR NIXON, who won unanimous renomination in the face of Harold E. Stassen's futile move to ditch him, it was a night to remember. His elation was tempered, however, by the fact that his father lies dangerously ill in Whittier, Calif.

He and Mrs. Nixon returned to Whittier late Thursday night. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower went to Monterey, Calif., for three or four days of relaxation at the swank Cypress Point Golf Club.

The President plans to return to Washington early next week.

Veep's Father Has Slight Setback

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)—Vice President Nixon's father, again in critical condition, suffered a slight setback today when a kidney complication developed, his physician reported.

The vice president, having sped back from the Republican national convention at San Francisco, where he accepted renomination Thursday night, again was at the bedside of 77-year-old Frank A. Nixon.

The elder Nixon suffered bleeding from the main abdominal artery early Wednesday.

He rallied on what his doctors called the "tonic" of his son's renomination and then Thursday night his condition again was reported critical.

Chief Of Police Replies To Rap On Park Tags

"I resent above all else that part about Circleville police not having any respect for public relations, or being discourteous to the public. I know very well how important it is to have good public relations for the police department, and I have insisted consistently that all officers be polite to the public."

"After all, a lot of the public probably doesn't know the responsibility I have to enforce the law—exactly as it is written—to the best of my ability. And one of the big mysteries in this as far as I'm concerned is why—after arguing over this thing every time 'Dollar Day' comes up—they (council) don't put something in the parking ordinance to allow for the free parking on 'Dollar Day'."

"What's the reason for it?" "Surely there must be some way to amend the ordinance to allow for the 'Dollar Day' free parking. There certainly must be some legal way in which all that would be needed would be for the mayor to proclaim the 'Dollar Day' and allow me to give the necessary orders to the force."

"I've been accused of using poor judgment. Well, if it's poor judgment to comply with the city ordinance, then I have used poor judgment—no doubt about it."

"I didn't make the ordinance, but I took an oath to enforce it to the best of my ability. And that's all I did! I'm willing to leave it up to the public whether or not my stand is correct."

"THIS STUFF" about having the police look the other way—to ignore the parking meters on 'Dollar Day'. Why make that foolishness necessary?"

"They may as well want the police to look the other way on a lot of other things too!"

"Why not, instead, just amend the ordinance—or fix it in whatever way it needs to be fixed?"

Compromise Union Shop Proposal In Timken Dispute

CANTON (AP)—A compromise union shop is included in a tentative contract agreement reached by Timken Roller Bearing Co. and the United Steelworkers Thursday a few hours before a midnight strike deadline.

After more than a month of negotiating, spokesmen said major issues of the bargaining had been tentatively agreed upon. The pact is expected to be signed today or Saturday.

Timken employees in Canton, Columbus, Zanesville, Wooster and Mount Vernon probably then would vote whether to accept it.

No terms were announced, but it was believed the agreement would be for three years.

Timken management long had opposed the union shop philosophy. A spokesman Thursday said the settlement contained a "variation of the company's union shop plan, but is short of the type of union shop accepted by Big Steel."

A union spokesman said the union shop issue had been compromised.

NEW YORK (AP)—James A. Farley, who was hit in the face by a flying scorecard at the Democratic convention, underwent an emergency operation on his right eye Thursday.

Check Results Of Airborne Assault Test

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—A critique was held here today in the wake of Exercise Pinecone, gigantic airborne assault aimed at testing presently available troop carrier transportation.

More than 8,000 paratroopers dropped during Thursday's exercise. They leaped from more than 250 airplanes which had carried them from eight airfields in the Carolinas and Virginia.

The biggest Army-Air Force exercise ever held here saw the first wave of 2,000 paratroopers jump at 10 a. m. after a four-hour delay because of the low ceiling.

Using equipment parachuted with them, the men captured runways at Pope Air Force Base and Camp MacKall. This paved the way for the big C124 Globemasters which brought in reinforcements and heavier weapons.

Motorist Injured In Side-Swiping

A motorist was injured Thursday at 6:35 p. m. when his car side-swiped another vehicle one mile east of Circleville on Route 56.

Carey W. Nungester, 42, of Laurelville reportedly suffered bruises and cuts on the left arm as the result of his car side-swiping an automobile driven by Wanita May Marshall, 25, of Stoutsville.

The injured man was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment.

According to Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey, the left rear fender of both cars were slightly damaged. No arrests were made.

Duck Slide, State Fair Exhibit, Sure To Thrill Small Visitors

Here's one sure to bring gay squeals out of Pickaway County's small fry—and a lot of others not so small.

Tiny and fuzzy members of the duck world will stage a show all their own at the Ohio State Fair. They'll slide down a chute into a tank of water—just like youngsters at the beach.

The duck slide will be part of an exhibit sponsored by the Ohio Poultry Council in cooperation with The Ohio State University's poultry department and the Agricultural Extension Service. Glyde Marsh, university extension poultryman, says the slide will work like this, he hopes:

The ducklings will climb a ladder to a feed trough just big enough to accommodate one bird at a time. As the first duckling starts to eat, the one behind him will move up, and without even saying "Excuse me, please," will crowd in, pushing the first bird down the slippery chute into the water.

Another feature of the exhibit, to be located in the west end of the poultry building at the state fairgrounds in Columbus, will be a series of displays showing, in sequence, the life cycle of a chicken. Fair visitors will see chicks as they are hatched, day-old and 3-month old and mature birds. They'll see how eggs are properly handled from the hen house to the store.

A giant turn-table will display food products made from eggs. Demonstrations will show how eggs are candeled and graded. Another poultry exhibit attraction, Marsh said, will be a display of winning entries in Ohio's Junior Chicken-Of-Tomorrow contest.

Many district residents plan to attend the state fair. After opening Friday, it will continue the rest of the month.

The Infallibly Safe Way -- No. 2
Last week we noticed the great importance of seeking out and following the "infallibly safe course" in matters religious. Today we submit a study of the unquestionably safe course revealed in God's word, in contrast with unsafe and questionable ways of man's devising. Wisdom will decide the course we should take.

SAFE UNSAFE
IT IS SAFE to accept the Bible as the rule of faith and practice. (2 Tim. 3:16-17; 2 John 9).
IT IS UNSAFE to use the creeds of men, disciplines and articles of faith. They are without authority.
IT IS SAFE to observe the silence of the scriptures and speak only where they speak (1 Pet. 4:11; Gal. 1:6-9; 2 John 9, Rev. 22:18-19).
IT IS UNSAFE to speak where the Bible is silent and fail to observe a "thus saith the Lord" in doctrine and practice.
IT IS SAFE to believe that church membership is essential for salvation. The Lord adds the saved to the church (Acts 2:47). Christ is the savior of the body (Eph. 5:23), the body is the church (Col. 1:18).
IT IS UNSAFE to teach that church membership is non-essential to our salvation, and that one doesn't have to be a member of the church we read about in the New Testament in order to be saved.
IT IS SAFE to say there are many churches (bodies) which make up the one church. This would make the church out of fellowship with itself.
IT IS UNSAFE to exalt man as an earthly head of the church.
IT IS SAFE to exalt Christ as the only head of the church (Eph. 1:22-23).

The things listed above in the "safe" column are safe because the Bible teaches them. Those "unsafe" are so because man is their author.

Dutch Royalty Rift Now Healed

Statement Tells End Of Couple's Dispute

THE HAGUE (AP)—Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard reported to the Dutch people today that they have patched up their "difficulties" and "now look forward to the future with confidence."

The brief, joint statement was in effect the royal couple's denial of rumors that they were heading for a divorce—or that the Queen might abdicate—because of Juliana's close association with a 61-year-old faith healer, Miss Greet Hofmans.

An authoritative source said the Queen has ended her association with the faith healer, to whom she originally looked for treatment of her partly blind youngest daughter, Princess Maria Cristina.

A few hours before their communique was issued, the 47-year-old monarch and her 45-year-old prince took a plane for a short holiday on the Greek island of Corfu with Greece's King Paul and Frederika.

The statement made no mention of Miss Hofmans nor did it specify the difficulties which had arisen between Juliana and Bernhard, married for 19½ years.

Fishermen Asked To Be Patient As Creek Fills Memorial Lake

Last night's downpour gave Hargus Creek a big boost as it continues with its job of filling the area that will be Memorial Lake—but the task still has a long way to go.

Pickaway County Game Protector Clarence Francis urged patience on the part of local fishermen, explaining that the water in the lake so far still is not deep enough to permit the stocking of fingerling bass. This work, he said, would be completed at the earliest possible date.

A big valve was closed earlier this week to enable Hargus Creek to start filling the lake site.

Reports received here say that approximately 40,000 fingerling bass from federal hatcheries will be turned loose in the lake as soon as the water reaches a suitable depth.

THURSDAY night's rain, which measured .82 inch, should cause the water level to raise considerably, construction officials at the lake site said today.

Agree On Labor Election In Lake Shipper Dispute

CLEVELAND (AP)—U. S. Steel Corp.'s strikebound Pittsburgh Steamship Division agreed with two marine unions Thursday on terms for conducting bargaining agent elections for 95 licensed crewmen on the firm's 58 ore carriers.

The vote will be taken next week in Cleveland, Detroit, Conneaut, Milwaukee and Duluth by the American Arbitration Assn., with the results to be tabulated next Friday.

One of the unions, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn., wants to represent the licensed engineers of the ships. The Masters, Mates and Pilots Assn., wants to represent the licensed mates, but agreed that masters could be excluded.

The agreement Thursday provided that if the unions win the elections, negotiations will begin immediately to complete collective bargaining pacts in three days.

The strike hit the shippers at the end of the steel strike which already had kept the Pittsburgh fleet idle since the middle of July. The unions later extended the strike to three smaller lake shipping firms.

Lutheran Intern Delivers Address At Rotary Meeting

John Gast, intern at the local Trinity Lutheran Church, was guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting held Thursday.

Student pastor Gast spoke on the characteristics and meaning of "maturity." He defined maturity as being both physical and psychological.

Physical maturity, the Lutheran pastor said, is usually common in most persons. However, psychological maturity is more difficult to attain, he pointed out.

Being emotionally stable and having a sense of responsibility are outstanding attributes of a psychological mature person, Gast noted.

Other traits of a mature person, the intern maintained, are "adaptability, perspective and the ability to be sensitive to the needs of others."

Prosecutor's Wife Slain; Hunt Ex-Cons

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The attractive wife of Osee Fagan, Alachua County prosecuting attorney, was found shot to death in front of her home shortly after midnight.

Detective R. T. Angel said he believed it was a grudge slaying. He and Sheriff Joe Crevasse said a roundup was begun immediately of persons whom Fagan had sent to jail during his four years as county attorney.

The body was discovered by Fagan about 12:30 a. m. as he returned from a social gathering. The Fagans' three young children were sleeping undisturbed.

Doctors at Alachua General Hospital said a single bullet entered the 30-year-old woman's chest near the heart.

Costs Going Up, Borrowing Also More Difficult

Supply Of Lendable Money Is Scarcer, So Interest Rises

NEW YORK (AP)—The price of money is going up at the same time that its value in the market place is slipping.

It will cost a businessman more to borrow money this fall. And when he spends it, chances are he'll get less in materials and services than he could have last spring.

Consumers are finding it costs more to buy many items. At the same time they are finding it hard to locate funds to finance mortgages on the new home they want.

The price of money—what you pay in interest when you borrow—is going up in response to the law of supply and demand. The demand for money, particularly by businessmen wanting to borrow, is growing while the supply of lendable funds is very tight.

Since business is bidding for construction materials and for such capital goods as machinery and tools, and since the supply of many of these items is tight, their price is rising. This approximates the classical definition of inflation: "Too much money (borrowed in this case) chasing too few goods."

In the consumer's case it's quite different. Prices on many manufactured items are going up although there are large stocks of these goods on hand and idle productive capacity. There certainly aren't "too few goods."

The price tags are being marked up at manufacturing level because of higher costs of labor and materials. At the retail level, where competition is fierce, markups aren't nearly as widespread.

Money is tight for several reasons. The great demand for it is one. The demand comes from businesses wishing to expand to prepare for the ever greater prosperity they foresee, from merchants carrying costly stocks, and from consumers buying on time.

The supply of it, while growing, isn't keeping up with demand. Basically the supply of money for investment comes from the savings of individuals and corporations. The rate of savings varies as consumers go on spending.

But business notes now of how big an industrial plant the nation will need in the next few years are much bigger than current savings can pay for.

The federal reserve system could ease credit considerably. It could let the banks have more money to lend. By supporting the bond market as it did just after the war it could halt the rise in interest rates.

But the federal reserve policy is to keep money sufficiently tight to head off any unswelling of inflation which it feels would follow the pouring of cheap money into expansion plans and new business ventures. Inflation could bring sharply higher consumer prices.

So borrowing is allowed to grow more difficult and more costly. It is hoped that will help hold down the rising cost of living. So far that weapon hasn't seemed to help the consumer much.

Richard Nixon Described As 'Man With His Eye On The Ball'

By ED CREAGH

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—One steaming day in the summer of 1952, a tired-eyed newspaperman looked down at the California delegation to the Republican National Convention in Chicago and remarked:

"Look at that Nixon. Not a hair out of place. Not a bead of sweat on his face. When he applauded that last speaker, I bet he counted every handclap. Does he have a book that tells him what to do in any situation?"

"Son," said a colleague, "look around at the rest of these yowling characters in this convention hall. Which one of them do you think has his eye on the ball — the way Dick Nixon has?"

Richard M. Nixon, vice president at 40, renominated Wednesday at 43, is indeed a man with his eye on the ball.

It may seem an odd role for a shy youngster from Yorba Linda, Calif., where his father grew some wheat.

not-overly-thriving citrus trees. It's not so odd, though, for the kind of serious young man he grew up to be.

Nixon is strictly 20th century. He is probably the first of his kind to come so close to the presidency. His skyrocket rise from nowhere to next door to the White House is a grey-flannel-suit success story.

Much of the Nixon story is well known from there in:

Young lawyer . . . Navy veteran . . . Beat an old-timer, Democrat Jerry Voorhis, for Congress in 1946 . . . Made the most of two terms . . . Built a reputation as an anti-Communist campaigner . . . Went on to the Senate in 1951 by defeating Democrat Helen Gahagan Douglas.

In 1952, Eisenhower listed half a dozen young Republicans who'd suit him as vice presidential nominees. Nixon was chosen.

Early in the campaign Nixon came under fire from the Democrats for accepting a private expense fund from well-off fellow Californians while in the Senate. There was serious talk of dropping him from the ticket.

Nixon bounced back with a zing few television playwrights could have dreamed up. He went on television with his wife Pat at his side, and his dog Checkers barely offstage. The resulting influx of pro-Nixon telegrams still makes Western Union shake its head in wonderment.

"You're my boy," Eisenhower told a weeping Dick Nixon shortly afterward.

Attorneys Ready New Attempt To Free Sheppard

CLEVELAND (AP)—Attorneys are preparing an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court in the final round of a legal fight to obtain freedom for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, convicted wife slayer.

Dr. Richard Sheppard, brother of the Bay Village osteopath who was convicted of slaying his wife, Marilyn, on July 4, 1954, said Atty. William J. Corrigan would file the appeal soon. He said that other attorneys collaborated with Corrigan in preparing the appeal.

Corrigan was in charge of the defense forces at Dr. Samuel Sheppard's murder trial. The defendant now is serving a life term in the Ohio penitentiary.

Paul Herbert, Columbus attorney and former lieutenant governor, was one of those working with Corrigan on preparing the appeal to the Supreme Court. He handled Dr. Sam's unsuccessful appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Corrigan assisted Herbert from the sidelines on the appeal to the state court.

World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Democrats and Republicans have come pretty close to asking voters to choose between two teams of national managers rather than between conflicting political parties.

The two parties—judged by the promises in their campaign platforms and not by the corny and heated-over oratory of their convention speakers—think pretty much alike.

What each seems to be saying is: "We're nicer than they are and we can do everything better."

There is no basic difference in the promises made. Both pledged to retain the progress and programs of the New Deal and Fair Deal as extended by the Eisenhower administration. Both offered some improvements. Neither proposed radical changes.

If it seems a strange complacency in political parties seeking authority to run the country, the explanation is simple enough: the nation itself is pretty complacent because of its record-high employment, wages and savings, the relative stability in living costs.

This isn't how the politicians will be presenting their case from now until the Nov. 6 election. Rather they will sound like the Hatfields and McCoys.

To hear them, their party has a monopoly on wisdom, integrity and simple decency while the other is a collection of oafs, ham-merheads and assorted rascals.

If you have any doubts about the similarity between the Democratic and Republican parties, ask yourself: if you were a Frenchman or a Russian reading the platforms, what differences could you discern?

Fortunately for the country the two presidential candidates—President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson—are both moderate, temperate, restrained. Both have a knowledge of the world that extends far beyond the shores of the United States.

Either man, if elected, could be depended upon to work with earnest good will to carry out, as best he can, the promises made in the party platforms. But either's leadership would be limited by certain political realities which sometimes get overlooked during a campaign.

These are some of the realities: The political parties differ less between the official parties as a whole than within the parties themselves. Both are generally made up of liberals, conservatives, and reactionaries. At the moment the conservatives dominate both parties and give them their tone and philosophy.

The real test of how much either party can make good on its promises will come after election day and in Congress. Most of the promises—if they are to be kept—will have to be translated into law.

It is in Congress that the conflicting elements within the winning party will attempt to make good on the promises or whittle them down or ignore them. It is there that a president's program can be made or broken.

Experiment Proves Dry Ice Lesson

COLUMBUS (AP) — Seven-year-old Gary Wineberger of Columbus learned the hard way—that Webster's Dictionary is usually right.

Webster says water will absorb its own volume of carbon dioxide and that any dioxide in excess of the water's volume will create a powerful pressure.

To test Webster, Gary dropped a chunk of dry ice (solidified carbon dioxide) into a quart jar of water and capped the bottle.

Gary was reported in "good" condition in White Cross Hospital after surgery for deep face cuts.

Ike Bid To Dems Brings Cheers

COW PALACE, San Francisco (AP) — One of the biggest cheerleaders of the GOP convention with his acceptance speech Thursday night came in response to an invitation for "discussing Democrats" to pitch in with the Republicans.

It was an interpolation Eisenhower put into the text of his speech as it had been distributed to newsmen.

In the text, the speech read: "There are still enough injustices to be erased, still enough needless sufferings to be cured, to provide careers for all the young crusaders we can produce or find. 'We want them all!'"

To this, the President added: "Republicans, independents, discerning Democrats, come on in and help us!"

Slim Clues Trap Hit-Skip Autoist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A lead from a broken necklace and peculiar humming noise in the motor of Raymond Clemmons' automobile were instrumental in sending him to prison Thursday for a hit-and-run death.

Police said his car made an unusual noise because the front end had been damaged, just as a witness to the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Julianne M. Laursen described it. Mrs. Laursen was struck July 2. Clemmons admitted striking her, fleeing in panic, returning, placing her body in his car and dumping it in an alley.

Most of the beads of her necklace, broken by the impact, were found where she was struck.

One matching bead was under the floor mat of Clemmons' car.

Much-Wed Couple Split Up Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Betty Fern Heehleis has obtained a court order for her second, third and fifth husband to pay her $450 monthly alimony, pending trial of her separate maintenance suit.

That's right, She and Anthony C. Heehleis, a steel contractor, were married twice because the first union was effected before her divorce from a previous hubby had become final. Then she divorced Heehleis, married another man, divorced him, and remarried Heehleis.

The latest suit is contested. He started it with a cruelty allegation.

Gates Swing Open On 1956 State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 102nd Ohio State Fair opened its gates today to what Sam C. Cashman, fair manager, predicts will be a record first-day crowd of close to 100,000.

Star attraction is singing cowboy Roy Rogers, his wife Dale Evans and their troupe, performing in afternoon and evening shows.

Other top features of the "open-er" will be the dedication of the new Youth Center at the fairgrounds on the north side of Columbus, a youth talent contest at the special events tent, a Junior Fair queen's ball at the Youth Center and an evening fireworks show.

The eight-day fair will offer "something for everybody," Cashman said. For the exhibitors there is $111,183 in prize money. For the curious (and the stout-footed) there are exhibits and displays ranging from hogs to model houses and from the world's largest light bulb to guided missiles.

ROUNDUP

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

As Autumn approaches, conditions will become more favorable for the occurrence and spread of late blight in potatoes and tomatoes. It already has hit two areas in Southeast Ohio and undoubtedly is present in other sections of the state, according to B. F. Janson, Ohio State University extension plant pathologist.

Cool, cloudy weather with night temperatures below 60 degrees, heavy dews and rains favor spread of the organism. Under extremely favorable conditions, Janson says, late blight can spread through a field of potatoes or tomatoes in 24 hours.

Past experience has shown, the plant pathologist explains, that losses from late blight will be small in fields of potatoes or tomatoes that have been sprayed regularly with an adequate amount of suitable fungicide.

Recommended fungicides include 3 pounds of zineb or maneb; 6 pounds of a 50 percent fixed copper, 3 quarts of nabam plus 1 1/2 pounds of zinc sulfate per acre; or 150 gallons of an 8-8-100 Bordeaux mixture. Gardeners may use a general purpose dust containing one or more of these materials, Janson says.

If late blight appears in your area, Janson suggests you apply one of the copper sprays every 7 to 10 days, or spray every 4 or 5 days with one of the organics, such as zineb, maneb, or nabam. Bordeaux mixture is a copper spray and has some definite advantages when used on potatoes in late August and September, he says.

If you have a green-thumb problem, bring it to the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station Wednesday, September 5.

He'll Bet $5,000 On Ike's Health
MILAN, Tenn. (AP)—A Tennessee delegate to the GOP convention offers to bet $5,000 that President Eisenhower, if reelected, will live out his four-year term.

"Put up or shut up," says Guy Farwood, a wealthy real estate dealer.

He deposited the money in the Peoples-Farmers Bank here and got a notarized document stating that the money was in the bank to back his opinion of Eisenhower's health against any better anywhere.

He figures the odds at even money. Anyone taking the bet must put up $5,000, too. Bank cashier George Culbreath said the winner collects the $10,000 plus any accumulated interest.

Ike Backs Up Ban On China Trips
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has given his "full concurrence" to a State Department policy of refusing to grant valid passports to newsmen to visit Red China.

In an Aug. 7 statement, the State Department noted that some American newsmen had been invited by the Peiping regime to visit Communist China. The State Department promptly turned thumbs down on allowing them to go.

It gave as its reason Red China's delay in freeing Americans now in jail, in violation of a previous pledge to allow them to go home quickly.

Reds Ignored Chance To Prove Peace Talk At Suez Parley

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Suez Canal conference has ended with the security of a Western lifeline still in doubt, and danger on the horizon.

The conference was a golden opportunity for the Russians to prove the sincerity of their "peaceful coexistence" talk. If Moscow wanted to avoid a chain of events seriously affecting Europe's future and peace prospects, it would have lined up with the West in seeking an iron-clad guarantee for continued international access to the canal. The Russians did not. They used the controversy as a weapon to belabor the Western nations as "colonialists" and to marshal the frightened neutralism of Asia.

The 22-nation conference had the effect, probably, of staving off an explosion in the Middle East, but big as that accomplishment was, its results could be all too temporary.

Egypt's President Nasser will be told by the 18-nation majority of the London conference that they favor international operation of an Egyptian-owned company. This most certainly will be rejected by Nasser.

The Egyptians might accept the idea of the Russians—joined by India, Ceylon and Indonesia—for Egyptian operation of the Suez with some sort of international advice. But this cannot meet the demands of the West. Can the big Western powers give in now?

There must, at the least, be more negotiations, more marking time, and even, possibly, more economic pressure on Egypt to retreat from its position. The London conference was just a beginning.

Apart from the importance of the Suez to world trade, the West cannot lose sight of the fact that Nasser's actions endanger much more—the oilfields and even the pipelines carrying life-giving oil to Europe's economy. The conditions of today's world make it imperative that Europe have unhindered access to that oil. Nasser's action—and the indication the Egyptian leaders scored an initial victory over the West—can easily start a prairie fire of demand for similar acts of national aggrandizement throughout the Arab world.

ERSATZ JAVA BEAN A BOON?

IF A HOLLAND manufacturer can be believed when he says he has perfected a synthetic coffee which tastes like the real thing and can be marketed for 40 cents a pound, he may be acclaimed as a benefactor of mankind. A. Van Driel, the manufacturer, says all tasters who have tried the brew of the man-made bean say it tastes like the real thing.

There have been coffee substitutes in the past, but most of them did not approach the taste of coffee. The Holland manufacturer, who says he is now turning out 30 tons of artificial java a week, says the product will be available in many countries by the end of the year.

With coffee retailing in the United States for a dollar a pound and more, and the wholesale price continuing to rise, there is a wide open field for a coffee substitute — if it tastes like coffee, that is. One substitute which once had a fairly large sale had a sickening sweet taste not unlike molasses. More important than low price to the American coffee drinker is taste.

Another advantage Van Driel claims for his ersatz coffee is that it retains its flavor indefinitely after it is brewed. It would be a decided advantage to the housewife to be able to brew enough coffee to last a week in one operation.

OF MEN AND APES

ONE HUNDRED YEARS ago this month a skeleton was dug up in Germany, which scientists through the years hailed as proof of the anthropological theory that man descended from the ape.

Interesting enough, as the centenary of this discovery of Neanderthal Man is observed, there is growing doubt in anthropological circles that the skeleton proved any such thing.

Not many years after the skeleton was found in the Neander Valley, not far from the Rhine River town of Dusseldorf, Charles Darwin startled the world with his theory of evolution. Enthusiastic evolutionists insisted that modern man must have descended from the ape and point to the chinless, beetle-browed, short Neanderthal as one of the probable "missing links."

But now Prof. H. Kleeman of Bonn University in Germany, an authority on the subject, explains:

"The whole system has been found to be impossible. We know that Homo Sapiens (modern man) is older than Neanderthal. By extension, this pretty well throws out the whole idea that man was descended from the apes."

IT'S A MAD WORLD

AT LEAST 30 million Americans need some form of mental hygiene treatment, according to an eastern college professor. Few of them are getting it. Out of 5 million persons with definite psychoneuroses, perhaps 250,000 are being treated. There are 2.5 million more with various character and behavior disorders. In addition there are 20 or 30 million with borderline or temporary emotional disturbances that would benefit by some form of mental hygiene. And hardly any of these get any treatment at all.

That isn't as bad as had been feared. It means that more than 135 million Americans are reasonably well adjusted emotionally!

One look at the world is enough to make one wonder whether the average really is

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Every quadrennial political convention produces its share of Machiavellians, master-minds who manipulate delegations and leaders and the chemistry of democracy that is euphemistically called public opinion. Often the Machiavellians live only during one convention and are never heard of again. Sometimes, they are of sterner quality and longer life.

For instance, Colonel George Harvey, who managed the smoke-filled room that made Warren Harding the Republican candidate for President, was a distinguished editor and publisher; Colonel Edward House, who devoted himself to the career of Woodrow Wilson, was an obscure Texan until the world went to war, whereupon House became an international celebrity and a master-mind of American policy.

In the recent Democratic Convention, Senator Lyndon Johnson, it was expected, would produce a marvelous compromise between Stevenson and Harriman, but Lyndon Johnson did not produce anything, not even a successful candidate for the Judge Sam Rosenman were the manipulators of the Harriman effort and it is astonishing that Judge Rosenman did not succeed, what with his wealth of White House experience, but the fact is that he did not.

In the Republican Convention, the Machiavellians' real effort will be to dump Vice President Nixon. In this, the Machiavellian is not Harold Stassen who does not possess that type of mind, being somewhat more simple. Originally the design for dumping Nixon came from outside the Republican Party and the White House; it came from the A.D.A., the Americans for Democratic Action, which is managed by Joseph Rauh of Cincinnati and Professor Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., of Harvard.

Joining them in the original thinking was the Committee for an Effective Congress which is not part of the Republican apparatus although it was employed by some Republicans to destroy the effectiveness of Senator Joe McCarthy. They did not succeed but claim success; it was the voters who in 1954 elected a Democratic Senate and left Joe without a committee chairmanship which made him less effective.

Some folks in the White House, when they recognized the character of the dump Nixon campaign, thought that it was good because it might have produced Sherman Adams as Vice President. The Governor of California, Goodwin Knight, thought the campaign not bad at all because he is possessed of a public ambition to be Vice President.

Harold Stassen grabbed the ball and tried to run with it, avoiding to tell the public that he wanted the Vice Presidency for himself but claiming it for Christian Herter who promptly removed himself from the picture. Governor Theodore McKeldin of Maryland is willing.

This is not a movement against Nixon at all. The Machiavellians believe they can utilize certain dissenting factors in the Republican Party to split the party and thus defeat it. No one can object to the Democrats, the A.D.A. or the Committee for an Effective Congress employing such tactics; it is part of the game of politics, war and love.

They might be called diversionary tactics. One is astonished that any Republicans fall for them, particularly as these are the tactics that resulted in Republican defeats again and again and again.

that good. It's a mad world, mates. High time to call in the doctor.

That would have been impossible a century ago because very little was known about the science of mental hygiene. It is not practical today for another reason. There aren't enough doctors. This nation has about one psychiatrist for every 25,000 persons. It could use 10 times as many, it is alleged.

Descended From The Hymns

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—An ex-lawyer who has become one of America's top song writers today defended rock 'n' roll music as the happy offspring of the old-fashioned gospel hymn.

"Those who call rock 'n' roll detrimental just don't know what makes people tick," said Samuel (Buck) Ram.

"To say that rock 'n' roll is the cause of juvenile delinquency is like saying that going to an American Legion meeting causes adult delinquency."

Ram, who well may end up a millionaire partly as a result of the wildfire popularity of rock 'n' roll, said few critics realized its origin.

"I don't like to break music down," he remarked, "but those who do break it down know rock

'n' roll isn't basically a new form. It comes from the old-fashioned, hand-clapping gospel music.

"A lot of the rock 'n' roll hits were stolen from the popular old hymns sung at gospel revivals. And gospel music itself is a mixture of primitive African and Haitian jazz and English folk songs.

"Rock 'n' roll, like the old gospel hymns, is what we call happy music. Its beat is emotional, and it has a mass effect on people. But that isn't bad. It is more often therapeutic. It gives people an outlet for their feelings.

"It's not the fault of the kids if things get out of hand at a rock 'n' roll session. Adequate protection simply hasn't been prepared in advance.

"In any mass meeting of people—even an American Legion meeting—there is a minority that can spoil it if they aren't curbed.

"Most of the so-called rock 'n' roll riots have been exaggerated. You can have the same thing happen at a football game or a political convention."

Ram, graying, bear-sized man, began his career as a boy symphony violinist. After breaking his left hand in a football scrimmage, he took up the saxophone and learned it in three weeks.

He practiced as a lawyer briefly after leaving college, then became a song writer. Among his early hits were "At Your Beck and Call," "I'll Be Home for Christmas" and "Twilight Time."

Challenge For Dr. Mays

CHAPTER 29

CHAD SWUNG his chair about to look out of the window; fire-edged thunderheads were piled in the western sky, towering, magnificent, unbelievable.

"You're surprised that Lacey's going away?" asked Mrs. Milburn.

"Yes," he agreed tightly. "Why is she . . . ?"

"Oh," said Lacey's mother, almost indifferently, "she's decided that you don't want a well-to-do shopworn wife."

"What a completely foul phrase!"

"Oh, yes," agreed Mrs. Milburn with equanimity. "It is. But—" she smiled ruefully. "We both feel sure that you've heard some stories about Lacey's first marriage . . ."

Chad whirled about in his chair, and stared at the window. "I've heard stories," he agreed, his lips tight. "But not any from her. I asked her. She would tell me nothing."

"Lacey—if you know her at all, you know she couldn't tell you—or anyone—that her mother was—well—something of a murderer."

If she had meant only to shock, certainly the shocking Dr. Mays had been shocked in his turn.

"Ridiculous!" he barked. "Unbelievable!" It was almost more unbelievable than the story Hazel Barr had tried to tell him about Lacey being the cause of Brit's fatal attack.

"Oh, no," she said evenly. "It should not be. Listen. Chad Mays sat back in his chair, giving no indication that he already knew some of the details Mrs. Milburn now related.

"Lacey married when she was barely eighteen," said Mrs. Milburn quietly. "The man she married was much older; he was at least forty. A doctor, as you know?"

She looked up inquiringly, and he nodded grimly.

"Brit was a most attractive man, tall, rather heavy, in a muscular way. Handsome—I suppose. I guessed from the first that Lacey's money was the attraction to him."

"Why didn't you stop it?" Mrs. Milburn shrugged. "She was eighteen, she had her own money from my husband. If I had opposed the match too firmly, they would have eloped. A mother is helpless beyond a certain point."

"Go on!"

"Well—they were married, and went on their honeymoon. Lacey came back pregnant—and miserable. Happy about the baby, but quite sick, physically.

"Britton—" She paused, and sat thoughtful. "Sometimes men forget that mothers—not all of them, but enough—not roll naked in hot coils to save their children from hurt."

Chad jerked at the phrase. It was impossible to imagine this woman . . .

"As soon as they returned from their honeymoon, he took up again with his office nurse, who had been his mistress for a year or so before his marriage. And of course there was a terrible amount of talk. I heard enough of it to realize that the woman believed his renewed interest in her indicated that her power was great enough to justify certain demands upon him—and upon Lacey."

"I don't know, specifically, what she had in mind, but I certainly did not want Lacey exposed to any sort of blackmail. So—I went to Britton Van Horn and told him that he must get rid of the Barr woman. I gave him money to pay her off. Ten thousand dollars. He mentioned his heart, and his inability to stand scenes. But I insisted. I knew exactly what I was doing, too."

"Mrs. Milburn . . ." said Chad, pleadingly.

"I did, my dear. That same night he must have told the woman that he meant to keep what he had, and would get, from Lacey. That he was through with her. She made the expected scene—and he died. I had killed him."

She sat silent, waiting.

Chad didn't believe her story as told; there had to be more. But the bits and pieces began to fall into a pattern in his mind.

"You don't believe my story?" asked his visitor.

"There are some very big holes in it," he said gently. "But I've heard all I need to know now, I think."

Mrs. Milburn stood up, slipped her little hands into her gloves, patted her ruffles and her purse as if to assure herself of their familiar presence. Chad opened the door for her, walked with her past Hazel's desk, and let her out into the main hall.

Chad sat on for a half-hour, hunched over his desk. He went back over everything he knew or guessed about Hazel Barr, then repeated the process with Alice Milburn.

phrase kept recurring to him, disturbing him in his effort to convince himself that Hazel's ugly story about Lacey was pure fabrication.

Chad sprang to his feet, his dark red hair bouncing into spring-like curls on his forehead. She'd also told him Lacey loved him and was leaving.

"She can't go," he moaned. "I need a little time . . . She mustn't go now!"

He rushed out of the office and through the front door. Lacey had some reason for not wanting to talk about her marriage. She had refused, point-blank, to discuss the subject with Chad. So she had some big reason.

Without concern for car or truck or bicycle, he strode quickly across the street and down the rain-pooled sidewalk. He would go to Lacey, tell her once and for all that he loved her, trusted her, wanted to marry her right away.

He came soon to the stone posts and the raked drive of the Milburn estate. He rode up the driveway and across the terrace. He plunged into the house by way of that wide door, shouting for Lacey.

She came to him swiftly, laughing, her face reproachful.

"Chad!" she rebuked him. "What a racket!"

He shuffled his feet and smiled apologetically, then mumbled, "I had to see you . . ."

"But Chad," she said firmly, "you've been away for days, and now—you have a meeting this afternoon." She glanced at her wrist. "In less than an hour. You must be there. You can't have forgotten the meeting of the Clinic Board and its lawyers—over that lawsuit."

"But I have things to say to you, Lacey," he protested.

She nodded, smiling, still firm. "When the meeting is over, Chad."

"But, Lacey, by then I could be out of a job!"

She laughed, as if at childish nonsense. "That won't make any difference," she consoled him, "in the things we have to say—to each other."

His eyes aglow, he leaned toward her, kissed her lips lightly, started away. Stopped. He came back and took her two hands in his. "Lacey," he said anxiously, "do you like cream cheese? With grape jelly?"

"Oh, Chad!" she cried exultantly, "I love it!"

Today's Traveler Choses Wardrobe Of Cotton Frocks

Travel cottons, bright and bold, are going places this year. Brilliant plain colors, cool sheers, a kaleidoscope of prints offer a wide variety of vacation styles, reports the National Cotton Council.

Designers are using cotton in new ways for modern travelers. Cotton knits are smartly tailored, lightweight cottons are given feminine frills, and day-and-date frocks are brilliant in glowing prints.

Wrinkle-resistant knits are styled in sports separates, day dresses and ensembles, and date sheaths, all strikingly coordinated in textures and colors.

A complete wardrobe of separates can be planned in these knits. Shorts, camisoles and slacks are shown for active sports hours.

For travel and town wear, the slim sheath with its own color-coordinated coat answers many fashion needs.

Contrasting the tailored mood, are the lightweight woven cottons, which designers cut into slim or full-skirted dresses.

For sportswear, dotted swiss is ruffled into a short dressmaker type beach shirt with decorative ruffled sleeves. This is worn over a fully-lined dotted swiss bathing suit.

Combinations of lightweight cottons with rich, heavy laces are the choice of designers who use cottons lavishly and for the smartest evening designs.

Designers also tuck cotton into shell patterns, they pleat it, ruffle it and decorate it with rhinestones and beads for late-hour glamour.

A NARROWED-DOWN BOX JACKET COSTUME of magnolia-colored wool gabardine comes from Herbert Sondheim's collection. The skirt, eased with center back kick pleats, is buttoned onto a short-sleeved blouse of white linen with pleated bosom front.

Strength Through Trial

CHRIST'S EXAMPLE TEACHES US HOW TO RESIST TEMPTATION

Scripture—Matthew 4:1-11; James 1.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IF WE READ the headlines in the newspapers we are likely to think that there are more temptations in today's world than ever before in history, and that more people yield to them than ever before. Even more children seem to indulge in crime than in any previous generation.

Be that as it may, even Jesus Christ was subject to temptation, but He remained sinless. As He sets us the example in all our actions by His stainless life while He was on earth, He also shows us how we can resist Satan.

Small children as well as older ones meet with temptations. A child may be tempted to steal money that is carelessly left within reach; or he may be assailed by a desire to take a package of candy from the store in which his mother is shopping or some fruit from a stall.

If he is detected he will be

was: "It is written, man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

Then Satan took Jesus up to a pinnacle on the top of the temple, saying that if He should throw Himself down, angels from God His Father would see that He came to no harm. Jesus said, "It is written again, thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God."

A third time Satan tried, taking Jesus to the top of a high mountain where there is a view of the world in all its glory, saying: "All these things will I give Thee if Thou wilt fall down and worship me."

"Get thee hence, Satan, for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." Christ answered. Satan went away then, and Christ's hunger for food was assuaged by angels.

In His Epistle to the 12 tribes of Israel who were scattered in punished, and if not he will have a feeling of guilt. His conscience will tell him it was wicked to steal and whatever he thought would not be enjoyed as he thought it would.

MEMORY VERSE

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tried he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love Him."—James 1:12.

If he has been brought up by honest parents or taught that when temptations come he will be helped if he asks Jesus to give him strength to resist, it will banish the impulse to do wrong.

The phrase, "The temptation of Christ" seems strange. How could Jesus be tempted? He had no evil desires, and this tempting took place immediately after His baptism and before He had entered on His earthly ministry.

Jesus' temptations were three in number. The first came to Him after He had spent 40 days and nights in the wilderness alone without food. Naturally, as a man, He was hungry. Satan appeared at His side and said that if He really was God's Son and holy, He could change the stones at His feet into bread to satisfy His craving for food. His reply various provinces of the Roman empire, James, a relative of Jesus, although not an apostle, but a true Christian, gives us a wonderful picture of how we may avoid temptations. In fact he writes: "My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations."

Be patient, he writes. If you lack wisdom, ask God and He will strengthen you, if you ask in faith.

"Let the brother of low degree rejoice in all his ways. But the rich be glad that he has been brought low," for both must die. And finally, "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation, for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love Him."

The entire chapter of James should be earnestly read and meditated upon by the teachers. In it they will find many suggestions for the teaching of the lesson for both the younger and older pupils.

Newcombe Defeats Redlegs; He's First With 20 Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Milwaukee is starting to show the strain of pressure, as some folks say, someone forgot to tell the Braves about it. Particularly Bobby Thomson, Hank Aaron and Johnny Logan.

They looked as though they didn't have a care in the world Thursday night, protecting their two-game National League with a comeback 11-5 walk over the pesky Philadelphia Phillies. Thomson's seventh major league grand-slammer tied it in the fourth and Aaron and Logan then homered as the Braves scored seven in the fifth.

The Phillies are the only club in the league with an edge (10-7) over Milwaukee.

The "pressure" talk started when Milwaukee dropped a 2-1 decision to the last-place New York Giants Wednesday.

Big Don Newcombe of Brooklyn put the suddenly revived Giants in a different light by becoming the first to win 20 in the majors this season, choking off the homer happy Cincinnati Redlegs 6-5. The third-place Redlegs set a club mark with three homers that topped their season total to 183.

The Giants, meanwhile, came within 1½ games of leaving the cellar by defeating the seventh-place Chicago Cubs twice, 2-1 and 8-5. Fourth-place St. Louis also swept a pair, beating Pittsburgh 3-0 and 3-2 in a two-nighter.

New York's Yankees were Johnson 8-3 and 6-4 by the Chicago White Sox, with Nellie Fox getting seventh straight hits. Second-place Cleveland was split 2-1 by Boston as Mel Parnell beat Bob Lemon in a pair of three-hitters. Baltimore beat Detroit 3-0 and Washington defeated Kansas City 5-3.

Southpaw Curt Simmons, who had won seven in a row, took his second straight defeat after Thomson's 17th home run—first since July 26—overcame matched a 4-0 Phillie lead set up on Stan Lopata's 26th and 27th home runs.

Ray Crone gained the decision, his 10th victory, with relief help. Duke Snider and Carl Furillo double scoring Newk with the clinching run in the ninth. Johnny Klippstein lost his 10th after Wally Post's 26th homer, with two on, had tied things at 3-all in the first. Frank Robinson also hit his 32nd and Ed Bailey added his 22nd off Newk, who fanned six in his eighth-hitter.

Young Wally Moon pushed into the NL Batting lead with 4-for-8 including a two-run triple in the nightcap that gave him a .335 average. Wilmer Mizell fanned seven and gave just four hits in the opener, riding in on Ray Katt's two-run homer. Bobby Morgan's pinch single with the bases-loaded in the ninth won the nightcap for reliever Jackie Collum.

A ninth-inning single by Daryl Spencer broke a 1-1 tie and gave Johnny Antonelli a pitching duel with bonus kid Moe Drabowsky as the Giants won the opener. They scored eight in the nightcap fourth while Max Surkont held the Cubs to one hit until they uncorked five runs in the seventh.

Purina Crowned Mosquito Champs

Winners Defeat Eshelman Nine In Free Scoring Contest, 23-4

Purina Kid Baseballers were crowned 1956 champions of the Ted Lewis Park Mosquito League Thursday night following a 23 to 4 triumph over Eshelmans.

Prior to Thursday night's contest the best of three game play-off series between the two teams was knotted at one victory each.

Showing quite a bit of hustle and spirit, the champions tallied all 23 runs in the first three innings of play. Big inning for the winners was the third when they pushed 16 markers across the plate.

Due to a 19 run lead marked up by the Purina crew, the championship battle was called at the end of four innings.

WINNING pitcher Jeff Lutz mastered the Eshelman batters

Snead Eyes Fresh St. Paul Triumph

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Sam Snead, who has won more money in the St. Paul Opens than any other professional since the tournament started in 1930, had his eyes on another potful today and 144 players teed-off in the second round of the 1956 event at Keller Golf Club.

The West Virginia slammer, who has pocketed just a little bit less than $12,000, shared the first round lead at 6-under-par 66 with Bud Hoscher of Apple Valley, Calif.

Deadlocked a stroke off the pace at 67 are Dave Douglas, Newark, Del.; Ted Rhodes, Chicago; Howie Johnson, Houston, Texas; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and Fred Haas of New Orleans.

Defending champion Tommy Bolt finished with a 70.

Then darkness called a halt in lightless Wrigley Field. Gene Baker hit a grand-slam in the Cub rally.

White Sox in 'four runs for the Fox drove in the opener, two on a triple as Bob Keegan went all the way for his fourth victory. The Sox scored three in the first inning of each game, adding three more in the nightcap third against reliever Tommy Byrne to nail it. Mickey Mantle socked his 43rd homer, after a 10-game slump, to stay five games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace.

Dixie Howell, who hadn't started one in the majors since 1949 with Cincinnati, lasted the better part of six innings to win his fifth in the afterpiece. Rip Coleman and Bob Turley were the losers as the Yankees dropped their sixth in nine games.

Jim Piersall's sacrifice fly, after three walks had loaded the bases in the eighth, beat Lemon and the Indians. Rocky Colavito homered for one of the hits off Parnell. Jim Hegan got the other two.

Ray Moore three-hit the Tigers for seven innings, then injured his shoulder sliding into second. Hee Brown gave one hit the rest of the way. George Kell batted in all three runs with two singles. Frank Lary lost it.

Roy Sievers matched the Washington club mark he set last year with his 25th homer while Chuck Stobbs five-hit the A's for his 12th victory.

New Scores 20th, Wants Try At Yanks

CINCINNATI (AP) — Don Newcombe, the Brooklyn Dodgers' sometimes testy pitcher, appears ready to tear up the records of the all-time pitching greats of world champions.

Newk stopped the big bats of the Cincinnati Redlegs Thursday night, 6-5, to become the major leagues' first 20-game winner this season.

It marked the third time he has gained 20 victories. In 1951 he had a 20-9 record and last year posted a 20-5 mark. He has been beaten only six times this year.

Only two modern day Brooklyn pitchers ever achieved 20-game seasons. Burleigh Grimes of spital fame did it four times and Dazzy Vance, the speedball artist, three times.

Manager Walt Alton was beaming all over after Newcombe's performance.

"With the chance of starting nine more times, he has a fine chance to do better than ever before," said Alton.

"All I want to do is to win more than 20 games, the National League pennant and then beat those Yankees again," said Newcombe.

He shut off the power house Reds three times Thursday night, just when it looked as though they would explode.

The Brooks, however, led by Duke Snider and Carl Furillo, managed to eke out victory and strengthen their hold on second place.

Next 7 Days Vital In Mantle's Try For Homer Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Can Mickey Mantle break, or even tie, Babe Ruth's home run record? The next seven days—the last week of August—may tell.

The young New York Yankee slugger has seven games remaining in August, and with those seven he must build up a quick cushion against the Babe's unmatched finishing kick—which produced 17 homers in September to complete the old Yankee Bomber's sturdy 60 record of 1927.

Going into tonight's game with the Chicago White Sox at Yankee Stadium, Mantle has 43, matching Ruth's total at the end of August and five games ahead of the Babe's terrific season pace. But a five-game edge won't mean a thing come September.

Ruth walloped six home runs in the first seven games of September, and then capped it all with four in the last five games of the season.

Mantle's 43rd came in the ninth inning of the nightcap Thursday as the Yankees dropped a doubleheader to the White Sox 8-3 and 6-4. It was his first since August 14—covering 10 games.

Tackle Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns is putting in his 11th season in the National Football League this year.

First base coach Jake Pitler of the Brooklyn Dodgers began his career in organized baseball as a shortstop with Jackson, Mich., in 1913.

Gets Ace Before Flag Even Placed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Louis Moore of Columbus made a hole in one on a hole not yet marked by a flag.

Paul Kerr, manager of Beaver Ridge Golf Club, reports he was changing the location of the cup on the No. 1 green when a ball rolled up and dropped in the new hole.

Kerr said it was the first ace on the 251-yard hole in five years.

Smith To Risk Lightweight Title Tonight

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Lightweight champion Wallace Bud Smith and challenger Joe Brown meet for the title tonight with confidence the keynote and the outcome more unpredictable than usual.

For the 27-year-old Cincinnati-born champion, it will be the second defense of the crown he won from Jimmy Carter in June, 1955. He turned back Carter's attempt to regain the title last October.

And it represents the opportunity of a lifetime for the 30-year-old challenger from New Orleans, who whipped Smith in a nontitle 10-rounder at Houston last May.

Smith, loser of two other non-championship fights this year against promising Larry Boardman and former welterweight king Tony DeMarco, has a chance to enhance his standing as the 135-Brown is ranked only eighth among contenders, he is regarded as a prime test.

The oddsmakers have refrained from installing either Negro boxer as favorite. It's 5-6 and take your pick.

Smith's record shows 33 victories, 14 losses and 5 draws with 18 knockouts. His left hook is regarded as one of the best in the business and is expected to give Brown the most trouble.

The fancy-boxing Brown has a record of 60 victories, 14 losses and 8 draws, but he has shown a tendency to "blow" the big ones.

Browns Underdogs In Tonight's Tilt With Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Cleveland Browns and the Los Angeles Rams, who played for the national football championship last winter, collide again tonight in Memorial Coliseum. A crowd of 35,000 is anticipated for the exhibition game.

The World Champion Browns, curiously enough, are 2½ point underdogs. Los Angeles blew an exhibition game last week to the Washington Redskins, 38-14.

The Rams will start their rookie quarterback, Rudy Bukich, former

Ergo, the practical politicians came to Nixon's support not because they love Nixon—politicians never love anyone but the voters—but because they recognize the devastating possibilities of a split in the party in this election which, no matter what is said for publication, the men who ring doorbells know will be close. And even if Adlai Stevenson never refers to Ike's health, the debate between the Republican and Democratic doctors on the ileum has done its work in developing a doubt as to whether Ike can carry the load.

So the object of the dump Nixon effort is not so much to get rid of Nixon as to get rid of Eisenhower. It is a diversionary movement designed to hit the jugular of the Republicans. This is recognized by the professionals of both parties. If the Republican Convention should, despite the assurance of about 900 votes for Nixon, decide to dump him, the candidate will not be Christian Herter, or Harold Stassen or Sherman Adams. It could be Tom Dewey.

Albert Einstein, not much of a politician to be sure, once wrote: "Who can doubt that Moses was a better leader of humanity than Machiavelli?"

Of course, to so-called practical politicians, this is heresy, besides Einstein never was qualified to ring doorbells.

MANSFIELD (AP) — Eighty-five of the state's "50-and-over" golfers teed-off in the second and final 18-hole round today in the Ohio Senior Men's Golf Tournament here with two Newark men leading the pack.

Tim Freditz and H. B. Huntington each toured the 6,308-yard, par 72 Westbrook Country Club Course Thursday in 77. Defending champion H. Lape Jr., of Columbus was tied in the runnerup spot with J. E. Pemberton of Toledo. Both shot 78.

No Seats Reserved — Come Early and Enjoy The Show

One of the top bowlers in the country will put on an exhibition in Circleville on Sunday, Aug. 26. Don Carter and his wife, LaVerne, who hold the record for mixed doubles with a 1,376 total, will appear at the Circle D Recreation at 1:30 and 7:30 p. m. The 27-year old Carter once posted an 809 three-game series while on television. In gaining the doubles mark, Carter hit 693 and his wife rolled a 683. He won the 1952 All-Star Tournament with a 205 average in 100 games.

University of Southern California star, who has been in the service for two years.

Although the Browns beat the Rams for the title by 24 points, factors that have installed the Rams as the exhibition choice apparently are Coach Paul Brown's inclination to take preparatory games lightly; the retirement of Brown quarterback Otto Graham, and the likelihood that the Rams will rebound from their sorry showing last week, following settlement of their threat to strike if they didn't get paid for playing the exhibition schedule.

Margaret (Wiffi) Smith was only 18 when she won the women's divisional titles of the All-American and World golf tournaments in Chicago in 1955.

Approximately 30 boys and girls from Pickaway County will be among them during the next few days when more than 3,000 4-H Club members from all over Ohio join in the big program of the Ohio State Junior Fair.

The Junior Fair, by tradition, is the top feature of the big state exhibition that opens today in Columbus. The program at the state fairgrounds will continue for the remainder of the month.

For the past several days, Ohio's rural boys and girls have been devoting much of their time to last-minute preparations for their role in the vast display.

The estimate on the number of 4-H members participating was made by H. W. Harshfield, Ohio 4-H Club leader.

MORE THAN 1,000 4-Hers are ready to compete in the livestock show ring. Nearly 100 judging teams will try to judge cattle, swine, sheep, vegetables or poultry as the experts see them. Fifteen county 4-H bands will present concerts for state fair visitors.

Girls will model dresses they have made, present homemaking demonstrations, or invade the boys' world in an effort to show them how vegetables should be grown.

Forty-five activity classes are open to 4-H Club members. Harshfield pointed out. Boys and girls can compete for the title of "Health King" or "Health Queen" representing Ohio rural youth. The tractor rodeo has returned to the 1956 Ohio State Fair.

"We try to encourage as many Ohio 4-Hers to participate as we possibly can," he concluded. "Our entire 4-H program is directed at giving the youth of Ohio experience and clean, wholesome entertainment. Participation in the Ohio State Junior Fair is another link in the chain of 4-H fun and 4-H experience."

Martin-Lewis 'Split-Up' Brief; More Pictures Are In Works

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's a funny split-up," Dean Martin said, tilted back in a chair beside his swimming pool. "It doesn't seem like we've split. We're just going out on our own. Just want to prove something to ourselves, is all."

The "split" is, of course, his much discussed parting with Jerry Lewis — a severing which, Dean indicated, may not be nearly as final as generally supposed.

Take "Pardners," their latest movie release and certainly not their best.

"It's doing 30 per cent more business than our other pictures, which grossed an average of four million," Dean said. "People think it's our last picture." If that is the public assumption, he added: "We're cheating."

In the cans awaiting release is another Martin & Lewis picture.

Big Reception Was For Hot Dogs

LONDON (AP) — There was ceremony suitable for a visiting foreign minister when the big Pan American plane landed at London Airport Thursday. The place swarmed with officials.

They were interested in the cargo compartment. Attendants rolled out 1,000 pounds of frozen hot dogs from Chicago.

In a ship in the port of London were an additional 24,000 pounds of frankfurters, which will be given to Londoners, who know nothing about proper hot dogs, at a big fair next week.

On hand to meet the plane, and to certify that the hot dogs were genuine, was A. P. Davies of Chicago, director of the livestock section of the American Meat Institute.

Brief Storm Hits Cleveland Area

CLEVELAND (AP) — Wind, rain and a little hail pelted northeast Ohio during a brief storm late Thursday, knocking down some electrical power lines and flooding streets for a time.

The storm chased merry-makers at the Lake county Fair in Painesville as it blew down several tents and muddled the grounds.

This Otter Likes A Different Menu

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Fishermen generally dislike otters because of their reputation as fish killers.

But the State Conservation Department reports it has an otter with a positive dislike for fish.

The 5-month-old lady's favorite dish is hamburger but she will settle for bread and milk rather than fish.

The otter is under study by Dr. S. C. Whitlock, assistant chief of the game division.

Ike To Visit Ohio If He Makes Swing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — C. William O'Neill, Republican candidate for Ohio governor, says President Eisenhower told him he would include Ohio if he makes campaign trips into midwestern states.

O'Neill said the President told him Thursday he is opposed to political barnstorming by a chief executive. But he said the President added that he might make several one-day trips into key midwestern states.

Such trips would include visits to three or four states, possibly with speeches at airports, O'Neill said.

O'Neill and Vernon Thompson, Republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, spent 15 minutes with Eisenhower.

The Ohioan said Eisenhower told them he believes a president should not engage in political barnstorming but should devote most of his attention to his job.

Both O'Neill and Thompson said Eisenhower expressed interest in getting out a large vote in November. Both said the President told them he is just as interested in getting Republican governors elected as in getting a Republican Congress.

They said one reason for his interest in Republican governors is the fact that vacancies in the Senate are filled by governors through appointments.

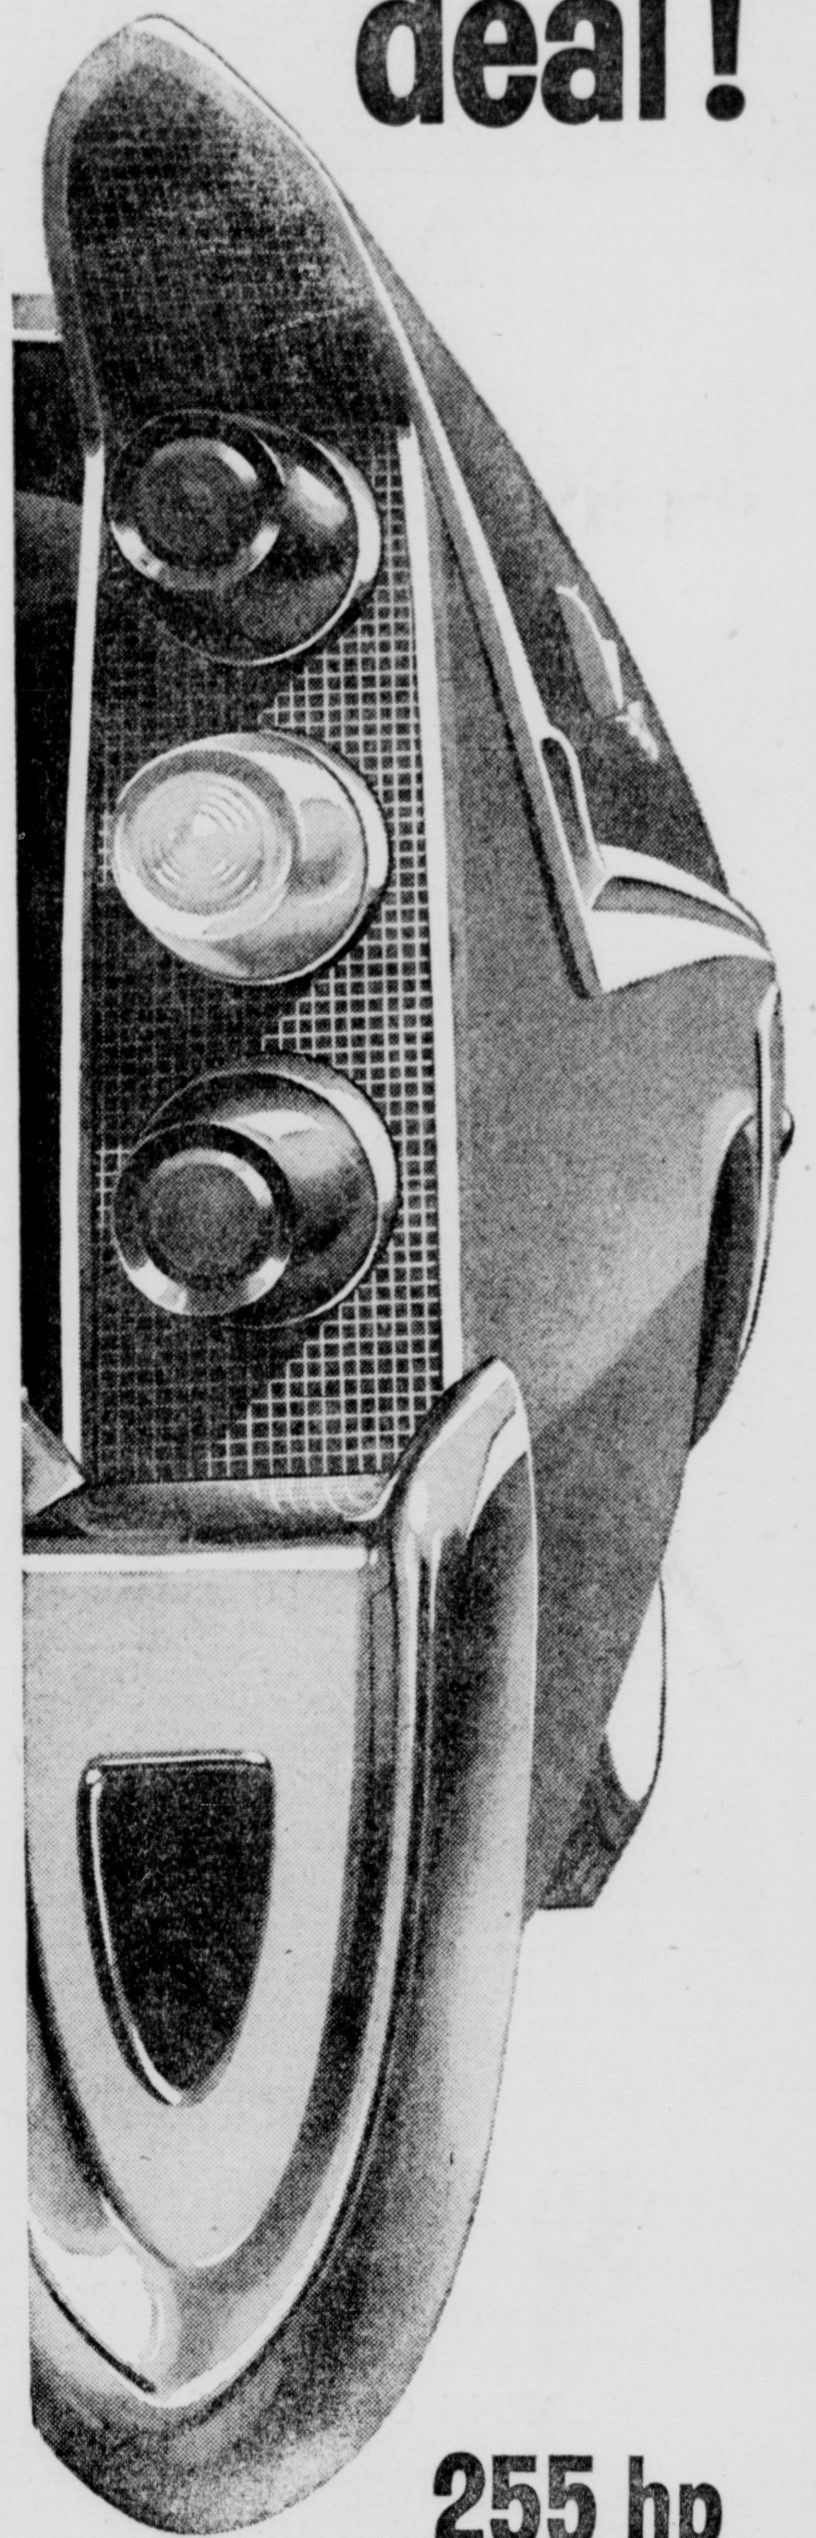

Rep. Clarence Brown was one of four vice chairmen elected at a meeting of the GOP National Committee Thursday. Brown is a national committeeman from Ohio. The committee reelected Leonard W. Hall of New York as party chairman.

Kidnapped Weinberger Baby Is Dead

Cab Driver Tells Authorities Of Hiding Victim

Financial Difficulties Blamed For Deed
By Angelo LaMarea

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—The decomposed body of kidnapped Peter Weinberger, with a safety pin still intact, was found today in roadside shrubbery 51 days after he was taken from the patio of his Westbury, Long Island, home.

It was found where FBI agents said Angelo J. LaMarea, a cab driver, told them he had abandoned the month-old child on July 5, the day after he took the baby.

LaMarea, 31-year-old father of two children, was arrested Thursday by FBI agents and Nassau County police and charged with kidnapping. Financial difficulties prompted the act. He had asked $2,000 ransom.

More than 30 Nassau County police and FBI agents moved on the abandonment spot at 9:15 a. m. It was situated alongside a cutoff road from Northern State Parkway leading to Plainview where LaMarea lives. It is only eight miles east of the Weinberger home.

Forming a line an arm's length apart, the searchers moved slowly through the underbrush. Shortly after 10:30 a. m. the body was found.

ASSIST. CHIEF Inspect. James Farrell said the baby had not been buried, he apparently had been placed in the underbrush, then summer storms whipped up honeysuckle vines and leaves to blanket the body.

A Nassau County police spokesman said LaMarea claimed the baby was alive when LaMarea abandoned him.

"Even if the child was alive when it was placed on the ground, it may well constitute murder," Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said.

Conviction of kidnapping, like first degree murder, carries a maximum penalty of death in New York State.

Authorities said LaMarea admitted abandoning the child after being frightened away by the presence of police and newsmen when he showed up at an appointed spot to pick up $2,000 ransom money.

A ransom note was found on the patio of the Weinberger home where the baby had been taking a nap in his carriage.

Since the kidnapping, thousands of handwritten specimens were scrutinized from public records and compared with the ransom note and other letters received by the Weinbergers.

It was not disclosed how, and from what source, authorities picked up the writing clue which led them to LaMarea.

POLICE SAID the kidnapping seemed to have been a one-man job. LaMarea's only previous arrest record was on a bootlegging charge for which he was given a suspended sentence last year.

LaMarea moved to Plainview four months ago from another section of Long Island.

It was said he does not know the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger, but prepared the ransom note in advance and then went looking for a child to kidnap.

Police said LaMarea cited about $1,800 in debts — including back payments on a refrigerator and storm windows — as motivating the kidnapping.

Neighbors of LaMarea said he, his wife Donna and their two children, Vincent, 9, and Vivian, 6, were quiet but friendly people and that the children were polite and well-mannered.

Police said members of LaMarea's family were not involved in the case.

Police Chief Replies In Row Over 'Dollar Day' Parking

Police Chief Elmer Merriman was on record today with a strong protest against the accusation that he was responsible for a parking tag bungle on "Dollar Day" earlier this month.

The mixup came into public focus at the latest meeting of city council when the lawmakers were told how 42 tickets were issued for overtime parking on the bargain shopping day. In the past, the arrangement has been to announce free parking privileges on "Dollar Day".

Outstanding in his reply to statements made before council was Merriman's claim that nobody "even mentioned parking" to him prior to the August 9 "Dollar Day". Council was given the impression that the chief had been asked to have police "look the other way" on overtime parking that particular day, and that he had refused to do so.

"I didn't even think about it being 'Dollar Day' until around noon-time," Merriman declared. "Then I was asked if the shoppers were being permitted to park free, and I replied that nobody had said anything to me about it."

THE underlying argument is far from a new one at city hall. A major debate on the subject was held in council about a year ago, at which time the chief pointed out there is nothing in the city's parking ordinance to exempt "Dollar Day" shoppers. His critics in the dispute, however, insist no special provision should be needed in the city law.

The chief said he was puzzled by the blame heaped upon him in connection with the August 9 "Dollar Day". He said:

"Somebody, somewhere in all this matter is badly confused. There certainly must be a very serious misunderstanding."

"I most certainly did not go to the men on my force and tell them anything—one way or the other — about parking on this past 'Dollar Day'. In fact, I didn't even think about it until around noontime. . . .

"The safety director (Miller Fissell) prior to 'Dollar Day' never said a single thing to me about the parking on that day. After 'Dollar Day', of course, there was a good bit of talk about it."

"Then too, why didn't Harold Clifton come to me before council met and ask me for my side of the story? He never said a word to me before council met."

(Councilman Harold Clifton touched off the criticism against the police chief, asserting it was likely the parking tag bungle will cost downtown stores thousands of dollars worth of business.)

"BUT HOW, in view of this, do those councilmen justify what was (Continued on Page Two)

Fissell Tells Plan For 1-Way Alleys

Safety Director Says Change Will Be Made Easy On Public

City Safety Director Miller Fissell announced today start of a gradual, easy-on-the-public program to enforce one-way traffic rules on all of the alleys that intersect Main St. in the central downtown area.

The plan involves only alleys running north-south between Scioto and Pickaway streets, and the one-way rules will be in force only between Watt or Pinckney and Franklin streets. Alleys running north from Main will be one-way in that direction, and — with two exceptions — alleys running south from Main will be one-way south.

Fissell, who gave city council an outline of the plan when the lawmakers met last Tuesday night, said it will be "about 60 days or so before we begin to take a serious look at how the idea is working out."

Meanwhile, he pointed out, signs are being posted and the public will have ample opportunity to get acquainted with the new arrangement.

The safety department chief explained the move is being made on the recommendation of qualified traffic engineers and on the basis of a long study of Circleville's downtown traffic flow.

MAIN PURPOSE, he added, is to drain some of the traffic load off Main St., or Route 22 passing through the city. The traffic picture on Main St. has been congested for a long time, he pointed out, and is steadily getting worse.

"Traffic check figures show that 4,700 cars use Route 22 going through Circleville during an average 24-hour period," Fissell said. "This breaks down to about 3 or 4 cars a minute, and the situation is getting to the stage now where we have to do something about it."

Fissell emphasized that the plan isn't intended to go into effect in a strict-enforcement way. "We intend to be reasonable about the thing," he said. "There are going to be problems to be worked out as we go along. We don't want the motorists to think we're going to crack down on this alley thing and start arresting people right and left."

"It's going to go into effect gradually, and our aim is only to get the benefit of the general idea—so that the traffic load on Main can be lifted a little—not to cause any hardships."

When it was pointed out that the plan would mean little if too many "exceptions" are permitted, or if the pattern would never really be enforced, the safety head said: "Oh don't worry about that. It'll be enforced all right, when the time comes to do it."

IT WILL BE the first time Circleville has ever attempted a plan for one-way traffic in alleys, Fissell said.

Two alleys running counter to the pattern will be the two running south from Main between Court and Pickaway. Fissell pointed out that these two flank the fire station when they come out on Franklin St., and that "we naturally don't want to be turning traffic in that direction—on account of the fire department."

Consequently, both these alleys will be one-way north from Franklin. West of Court, the south-from-Main alleys will all be one-way south.

Pat Nixon, in a charcoal gray channel suit and black velvet hat, told reporters that she would campaign with her husband—"We go as a team."

The children of both families missed the convention. The Nixons said they had thought about bringing their two daughters, Patricia, 10, and Julie, 8. But the girls stayed in southern California with their grandmother.

Peaches' Death Brings Probe

Famed Child Bride Dies After Fall In Tub

NEW YORK (AP)—Peaches Brown—the overweight, headline-making child bride of the 1920s—died Thursday at the age of 46 under circumstances which aroused the ire of authorities.

She slipped and fell in the bathroom of her New York apartment Sunday, never regained consciousness and died Thursday in New York Hospital.

Angered because no report had been made to his office, Acting Medical Examiner Sidney Weinberg sent a city ambulance to the hospital and had the body removed to Bellevue Hospital morgue for an autopsy. Police started an investigation.

The four-times married woman was found unconscious at 9 a. m. Sunday by her mother, Mrs. Caroline Heenan. Mrs. Heenan called a physician.

Because of Peaches' medical history of epilepsy, alcoholism and malnutrition, the doctor directed that she be kept "warm and comfortable."

At 5 p. m. when the doctor visited Peaches she found a bump over "Peaches" right ear and called an ambulance for the unconscious woman.

The medical examiner's office was not notified of her death. Dr. Eric Pike, the hospital's pathology resident, said the hospital planned its own autopsy since Mrs. Heenan had given it permission to do so.

For this reason, plus the medical history, he said, the hospital did not consider it necessary to notify the medical examiner. The medical examiner heard of the death through newsmen.

That put the wreckage nearly 200 miles north of the position given by the P4M when it radioed at 1:25 a. m. Thursday it was being attacked by unidentified aircraft.

However, the wreckage was found in approximately the same area, south of the Saddle Islands off the Bay of Hangchow, at which Peiping radio said Chinese Communist aircraft intercepted and damaged a "Chiang Kai-shek plane" early Thursday.

Chiang's Nationalist air force on Formosa said it had no planes in the area at the time and none of its planes were missing.

The Communist broadcast said the plane's airmen attacked trespassers over several Communist-held islands and flew off toward the southeast after it was hit.

The Navy said the Mercator's flight plan called for it to fly south well out over international waters, toward Formosa and then to circle back northeastward to Formosa.

First reports of the finding said there was no indication of what happened to the 16 American airmen aboard the missing plane, a four-engine P4M Mercator. The Navy said was on routine patrol and training mission from Japan.

Navy officials refused to speculate on the possibility that Communist boats had picked up at least some of the men.

The State Department has asked Britain, which has diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime, to find out if the Reds have any information about the plane and its crew.

Navy spokesmen at the huge Hokosuka base said the wreckage and rafts were found floating a few miles south of a Communist-held island about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai.

West Charting Report To Egypt On Suez Result

French Prepare For Trouble In Event Any Develops

LONDON (AP)—A five-nation committee today charted plans to hand Egypt's President Nasser a West-sponsored proposal for international control of the Suez Canal. But the French stepped up military preparations in case the Arab leaders say no.

Secretary of State Dulles joined the committee in charting its approach to Nasser.

The session ended at noon. One member said the meeting "dealt entirely with procedure." No definite time was set for another meeting, but the members were told to remain on call.

Before the five-power group met its chairman, Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies, said, "We may consider whether to approach Colonel Nasser through the Egyptian ambassador to try and find the time and place for meeting with him."

France's cabinet was called in to session to consider what action to take if Nasser does turn down the West-sponsored proposal.

Reports from the French capital said troops were being readied for transport across the Mediterranean, warships had been sent to sea on "maneuvers," and several air squadrons had been regrouped for possible movement.

Special paratroop units were reported being assembled in Algeria, where the bulk of France's armed forces is already fighting nationalist rebels.

MIDDLETOWN (AP)—John Call, 55, of Wellston was killed Thursday as his truck, loaded with steel, overturned on Ohio 122 east of here. Police said the load on Call's truck apparently shifted as he was making a sharp turn.

Locate Wreckage Of Missing Plane

TOKYO (AP)—Search planes and ships today found wreckage and two empty life rafts presumed to be from a U. S. Navy patrol plane which disappeared after radioing it was being attacked off the Red China coast.

First reports of the finding said there was no indication of what happened to the 16 American airmen aboard the missing plane, a four-engine P4M Mercator. The Navy said was on routine patrol and training mission from Japan.

Navy officials refused to speculate on the possibility that Communist boats had picked up at least some of the men.

Ike Seeks Peace As Topmost Goal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Eisenhower fixed "peace for all time" as the goal of the Republican "party of the future" in accepting formally its nomination for another four years in the White House.

Accepting "humbly but confidently" command of the GOP's 1956 campaign for national leadership, he told cheering delegates at Thursday night's windup session of the party's centennial convention it is not enough to promise "the young who fight the wars" that there will be "peace in our time."

"There is only one peace now, and that is peace for all time," he declared.

He said thermonuclear war had become "not just tragic, but preposterous."

"With such weapons," he said, "there can be no victory for anyone. Plainly, the objective now must be to see that such a war does not occur at all."

BEAMING AT the thunderous reception given him and his running mate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Eisenhower pitched his bid for re-election primarily on his promise to work for "a brave and shining new world . . . a world in which back-breaking toil and long hours will not be necessary."

Nixon told the delegates shortly before accepting his second-place nomination that "we have peace in the world today, but we are not going to rest on our laurels and be satisfied with the achievements of 3½ years."

It was a gay, colorful convention session that stormed approval for its two nominees. "I like Ike" balloons floated down from the ceiling. Eisenhower joined in bouncing them around as he waited through preliminary ceremonies on the platform to begin his formal speech.

When he arose before the throng, the 65-year-old Eisenhower said he wanted to express his "great satisfaction" that the convention had decided to keep intact for this year's race the same team that won in 1952 against a Democratic ticket headed by the same man the GOP's opposition has named this year—Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson's running mate this year is Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Eisenhower said he would not attempt any eulogy of Nixon but added with vigor:

"Whatever dedicated, conscientious loyalty will do for America, he will do."

FOR NIXON, who won unanimous renomination in the face of Harold E. Stassen's futile move to ditch him, it was a night to remember. His elation was tempered, however, by the fact that his father lies dangerously ill in Whittier, Calif.

He and Mrs. Nixon returned to Whittier late Thursday night. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower went to Monterey, Calif., for three or four days of relaxation at the swank Cypress Point Golf Club.

The President plans to return to Washington early next week.

Veep's Father Has Slight Setback

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)—Vice President Nixon's father, again in critical condition, suffered a slight setback today when a kidney complication developed, his physician reported.

The vice president, having sped back from the Republican national convention at San Francisco, where he accepted renomination Thursday night, again was at the bedside of 77-year-old Frank A. Nixon.

The elder Nixon suffered bleeding between layers in the wall of the main abdominal artery early Wednesday.

He rallied on what his doctors called the "tonic" of his son's renomination and then Thursday night his condition again was reported critical.

Sheriff's Office Believes Effort Made With Auto

Rope Found Hanging Near E. Ohio St. And Kingston Pike

The Pickaway County Sheriff's office reported today that vandals tried to tear down a telephone cable and other wires near the intersection of E. Ohio St. and the Kingston Pike.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said a rope was found hanging from wires in that vicinity after telephone customers had notified the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company that their lines were out of order. A group of repairmen sent out by the company to investigate the trouble called the sheriff's department.

The attempted vandalism, reported to the sheriff's branch about 8 a. m. today, came less than 24 hours after Governor Frank Lausche, at a meeting in Columbus, appealed to striking union workers to avoid all forms of violence.

The governor also asked company officials to provide service while negotiators continue to try to settle the dispute, now under way for more than a month. The Communication Workers of America and Ohio Consolidated are apparently deadlocked on terms of a new contract.

DEPUTY Radcliff said the vandals last night apparently had thrown one end of a rope around several wires to wrap them together and pull down a cable among them. The bottom end of the rope, the sheriff's department believes, was attached to an automobile.

Some of the lines were torn from their fastenings during the effort, but the deputy said the rope apparently snapped at the bottom end. Tire tracks found at the scene supported the theory that the vandals tried to use a car in the unsuccessful job, Radcliff said.

He added that the rope used was identified by the phone company as a type of "maintenance rope" used by the company. The piece of rope found, with a metal hook attached to the end that was thrown among the wires, is being held by the sheriff's department.

Deputy Radcliff said a full investigation of the incident will be made.

Bill Stewart, local spokesman here for the striking union, denied that any union members were involved in the latest vandalism. He has also denied the union had anything to do with earlier cable-cutting incidents in the Circleville area.

"I resent above all else that part about Circleville police not having any respect for public relations, or being discourteous to the public. I know very well how important it is to have good public relations for the police department, and I have insisted consistently that all officers be polite to the public."

"After all, a lot of the public probably doesn't know the responsibility I have to enforce the law—exactly as it is written—to the best of my ability. And one of the big mysteries in this as far as I'm concerned is why—after arguing over this thing every time 'Dollar Day' comes up—they (council) don't put something in the parking ordinance to allow for the free parking on 'Dollar Day'."

"What's the reason for it?"

"Surely there must be some way to amend the ordinance to allow for the 'Dollar Day' free parking. There certainly must be some legal way in which all that would be needed would be for the mayor to proclaim the 'Dollar Day' and allow me to give the necessary orders to the force."

"I've been accused of using poor judgment. Well, if it's poor judgment to comply with the city ordinance, then I have used poor judgment—no doubt about it."

"I didn't make the ordinance, but I took an oath to enforce it to the best of my ability. And that's all I did! I'm willing to leave it up to the public whether or not my stand is correct."

"THIS STUFF about having the police look the other way—to ignore the parking meters on 'Dollar Day'. Why make that foolishness necessary?"

"They may as well want the police to look the other way on a lot of other things too!"

"Why not, instead, just amend the ordinance—or fix it in whatever way it needs to be fixed?"

Compromise Union Shop Proposal In Timken Dispute

CANTON (AP)—A compromise union shop is included in a tentative contract agreement reached by Timken Roller Bearing Co. and the United Steelworkers Thursday, a few hours before a midnight strike deadline.

After more than a month of negotiating, spokesmen said major issues of the bargaining had been tentatively agreed upon. The pact is expected to be signed today or Saturday.

Timken employees in Canton, Columbus, Zanesville, Wooster and Mount Vernon probably then would vote whether to accept it.

No terms were announced, but it was believed the agreement would be for three years.

Timken management long had opposed the union shop philosophy. A spokesman Thursday said the settlement contained a "variation of the company's union shop plan, but is short of the type of union shop accepted by Big Steel."

A union spokesman said the union shop issue had been compromised.

Farley Undergoes Eye Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—James A. Farley, who was hit in the face by a flying scorecard at the Democratic convention, underwent an emergency operation on his right eye Thursday.

Farley's office said later that, barring complications, his eyesight will not be impaired.

The operation was "for the correction of a detached retina," Farley's office said.

Farley, 68, was hit in the face by a card thrown in the crowd in the burst of enthusiasm last Thursday night when Adlai E. Stevenson was nominated for president in Chicago.

Check Results Of Airborne Assault Test

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—A critique was held here today in the wake of Exercise Pinecone, gigantic airborne assault aimed at testing presently available troop carrier transportation.

More than 8,000 paratroopers dropped during Thursday's exercise. They leaped from more than 250 airplanes which had carried them from eight airfields in the Carolinas and Virginia.

The biggest Army-Air Force exercise ever held here saw the first wave of 2,000 paratroopers jump at 10 a. m. after a four-hour delay because of the low ceiling.

Using equipment parachuted with them, the men captured runways at Pope Air Force Base and Camp MacCall. This paved the way for the big C124 Globemasters which brought in reinforcements and heavier weapons.

Duck Slide, State Fair Exhibit, Sure To Thrill Small Visitors

Here's one sure to bring gay squeals out of Pickaway County's small fry—and a lot of others not so small.

Tiny and fuzzy members of the duck world will stage a show all their own at the Ohio State Fair. They'll slide down a chute into a tank of water—just like youngsters at the beach.

The duck slide will be part of an exhibit sponsored by the Ohio Poultry Council in cooperation with The Ohio State University's poultry department and the Agricultural Extension Service. Glyde Marsh, university extension poultryman, says the slide will work like this, he hopes:

The ducklings will climb a ladder to a feed trough just big enough to accommodate one bird at a time. As the first duckling starts to eat, the one behind him will move up, and without even saying "Excuse me, please," will crowd in, pushing the first bird down the slippery chute into the water.

The Infallibly Safe Way -- No. 2

Last week we noticed the great importance of seeking out and following the "infallibly safe course" in matters religious. Today we submit a study of the unquestionably safe course revealed in God's word, in contrast with unsafe and questionable ways of man's devising. Wisdom will decide the course we should take.

SAFE

IT IS SAFE to accept the Bible only as the rule of faith and practice. (2 Tim. 3:16-17; 2 John 9).

IT IS SAFE to observe the silence of the scriptures and speak only where they speak (1 Pet. 4:11; Gal. 1:6-9; 2 John 9; Rev. 22:18-19).

IT IS SAFE to believe that church membership is essential for salvation. The Lord adds the saved to the church (Acts 2:47). Christ is the savior of the body (Eph. 5:23); the body is the church (Col. 1:18).

IT IS SAFE to believe there is only one church, the one Christ purchased with his blood (Acts 20:28; Eph. 4:4; Col. 1:18).

IT IS SAFE to exalt Christ as the only head of the church (Eph. 1:22-23).

The things listed above in the "safe" column are safe because the Bible teaches them. Those "unsafe" are so because man is their author.

"THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU"

Dutch Royalty Rift Now Healed

THE HAGUE (AP)—Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard reported to the Dutch people today that they have patched up their "difficulties" and "now look forward to the future with confidence."

The brief, joint statement was in effect the royal couple's denial of rumors that they were heading for a divorce—or that the Queen might abdicate—because of Juliana's close association with a 61-year-old faith healer, Miss Greet Hofmans.

An authoritative source said the Queen has ended her association with the faith healer, to whom she originally looked for treatment of her partly blind youngest daughter, Princess Maria Cristina.

A few hours before their communique was issued, the 47-year-old monarch and her 45-year-old prince took a plane for a short holiday on the Greek island of Corfu with Greece's King Paul and Frederika.

The statement made no mention of Miss Hofmans nor did it specify the difficulties which had arisen between Juliana and Bernhard, married for 19½ years.

Motorist Injured In Side-Swiping

A motorist was injured Thursday at 6:35 p. m. when his car side-swiped another vehicle one mile east of Circleville on Route 56.

Carey W. Nungesser, 42, of Laurelville reportedly suffered bruises and cuts on the left arm as the result of his car side-swiping an automobile driven by Wanita May Marshall, 25, of Stoutsville.

The injured man was advised to go to Berger Hospital for treatment. According to Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey, the left rear fenders of both cars were slightly damaged. No arrests were made.

Police, Fire Calls

POLICE

No assaults, robberies, breaks or any other crimes were reported by police as of today.

FIRE

No fires were reported today by the Circleville fire department.

A friendly Indian by the name of Samoset in 1621 gave a few kernels of corn to Miles Standish of the Plymouth colony and told him how to plant them. That was the white man's introduction to corn.

ANOTHER feature of the exhibit, to be located in the west end of the poultry building at the state fairgrounds in Columbus, will be a series of displays showing, in sequence, the life cycle of a chicken. Fair visitors will see chicks as they are hatched, day-old and 3-month old and mature birds. They'll see how eggs are properly handled from the hen house to the store.

A giant turn-table will display food products made from eggs. Demonstrations will show how eggs are candeled and graded. Another poultry exhibit attraction, Marsh said, will be a display of winning entries in Ohio's Junior Chicken-Of-Tomorrow contest.

Many district residents plan to attend the state fair. After opening Friday, it will continue the rest of the month.

Fishermen Asked To Be Patient As Creek Fills Memorial Lake

Last night's downpour gave Hargus Creek a big boost as it continues with its job of filling the area that will be Memorial Lake—but the task still has a long way to go.

Pickaway County Game Protector Clarence Francis urged patience on the part of local fishermen, explaining that the water in the lake so far still is not deep enough to permit the stocking of fingerling bass. This work, he said, would be completed at the earliest possible date.

A big valve was closed earlier this week to enable Hargus Creek to start filling the lake site. Reports received here say that approximately 40,000 fingerling bass from federal hatcheries will be turned loose in the lake as soon as the water reaches a suitable depth.

THURSDAY night's rain, which measured .82 inch, should cause the water level to raise considerably, construction officials at the lake site said today.

Prosecutor's Wife Slain; Hunt Ex-Cons

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The attractive wife of Osceola Fagan, Alachua County prosecuting attorney, was found shot to death in front of her home shortly after midnight.

Detective R. T. Angel said he believed it was a grudge slaying. He and Sheriff Joe Crevasse said a roundup was begun immediately of persons whom Fagan had sent to jail during his four years as county attorney.

The body was discovered by Fagan about 12:30 a. m. as he returned from a social gathering.

The Fagans' three young children were sleeping undisturbed. Doctors at Alachua General Hospital said a single bullet entered the 30-year-old woman's chest near the heart.

The vote will be taken next week in Cleveland, Detroit, Conneaut, Milwaukee and Duluth by the American Arbitration Assn., with the results to be tabulated next Friday.

One of the unions, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn., wants to represent the licensed engineers of the ships. The Masters, Mates and Pilots Assn., wants to represent the licensed mates, but agreed that masters could be excluded.

The agreement Thursday provided that if the unions win the elections, negotiations will begin immediately to complete collective bargaining pacts in three days.

The strike hit the shippers at the end of the steel strike which already had kept the Pittsburgh fleet idle since the middle of July. The unions later extended the strike to three smaller lake shipping firms.

Lutheran Intern Delivers Address At Rotary Meeting

John Gast, intern at the local Trinity Lutheran Church, was guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting held Thursday.

Student pastor Gast spoke on the characteristics and meaning of "maturity." He defined maturity as being both physical and psychological.

Physical maturity, the Lutheran pastor said, is usually common in most persons. However, psychological maturity is more difficult to attain, he pointed out.

Being emotionally stable and having a sense of responsibility are outstanding attributes of a psychological mature person, Gast noted.

Other traits of a mature person, the intern maintained, are "adaptability, perspective and the ability to be sensitive to the needs of others."

Costs Going Up, Borrowing Also More Difficult

Supply Of Lendable Money Is Scarce, So Interest Rises

NEW YORK (AP)—The price of money is going up at the same time that its value in the market place is slipping.

It will cost a businessman more to borrow money this fall. And when he spends it, chances are he'll get less in materials and services than he could have last spring.

Consumers are finding it costs more to buy many items. At the same time they are finding it hard to locate funds to finance mortgages on the new home they want.

The price of money—what you pay in interest when you borrow—is going up in response to the law of supply and demand. The demand for money, particularly by businessmen wanting to borrow, is growing while the supply of lendable funds is very tight.

Since business is bidding for construction materials and for such capital goods as machinery and tools, and since the supply of many of these items is tight, their price is rising. This approximates the classical definition of inflation: "Too much money (borrowed in this case) chasing too few goods."

In the consumer's case it's quite different. Prices on many manufactured items are going up although there are large stocks of these goods on hand and idle productive capacity. There certainly aren't "too few goods."

The price tags are being marked up at manufacturing level because of higher costs of labor and materials. At the retail level, where competition is fierce, markups aren't nearly as widespread.

Money is tight for several reasons. The great demand for it is one. The demand comes from businesses wishing to expand to prepare for the ever greater prosperity they foresee, from merchants carrying costly stocks, and from consumers buying on time.

The supply of it, while growing, isn't keeping up with demand. Basically the supply of money for investment comes from the savings of individuals and corporations. The rate of savings varies as consumers go on spending.

But business notes now of how big an industrial plant the nation will need in the next few years are much bigger than current savings can pay for.

The federal reserve system could ease credit considerably. It could let the banks have more money to lend. By supporting the bond market as it did just after the war it could halt the rise in interest rates.

But the federal reserve policy is to keep money sufficiently tight to head off any unswelling of inflation which it feels would follow the pouring of cheap money into expansion plans and new business ventures. Inflation could bring sharply higher consumer prices.

So borrowing is allowed to grow more difficult and more costly. It is hoped that will help hold down the rising cost of living. So far that weapon hasn't seemed to help the consumer much.

Richard Nixon Described As 'Man With His Eye On The Ball'

By ED CREAGH

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—One steaming day in the summer of 1952, a tired-eyed newspaperman looked down at the California delegation to the Republican National Convention in Chicago and remarked:

"Look at that Nixon. Not a hair out of place. Not a bead of sweat on his face. When he applauded that last speaker, I bet he counted every handclap. Does he have a book that tells him what to do in any situation?"

"Son," said a colleague, "look around at the rest of these yowling characters in this convention hall. Which one of them do you think has his eye on the ball—the way Dick Nixon has?"

Richard M. Nixon, vice president at 40, renominated Wednesday at 43, is indeed a man with his eye on the ball.

It may seem an odd role for a shy youngster from Yorba Linda, Calif., where his father grew some wheat.

not-overly-thriving citrus trees. It's not so odd, though, for the kind of serious young man he grew up to be.

Nixon is strictly 20th century. He is probably the first of his kind to come so close to the presidency. His skyrocket rise from nowhere to next door to the White House is a grey-flannel-suit success story.

Much of the Nixon story is well known from there in:

Young lawyer . . . Navy veteran . . . Beat an old-timer, Democrat Jerry Voorhis, for Congress in 1946 . . . Made the most of two terms . . . Built a reputation as an anti-Communist campaigner . . . Went on to the Senate in 1951 by defeating Democrat Helen Gahagan Douglas.

In 1952, Eisenhower listed half a dozen young Republicans who'd suit him as vice presidential nominees. Nixon was chosen.

Early in the campaign Nixon came under fire from the Democrats for accepting a private expense fund from well-off fellow Californians while in the Senate. There was serious talk of dropping him from the ticket.

Nixon bounced back with a zing few television playrights could have dreamed up. He went on television with his wife Pat at his side, and his dog Checkers barely offstage. The resulting influx of pro-Nixon telegrams still makes Western Union shake its head in wonderment.

"You're my boy," Eisenhower told a weeping Dick Nixon shortly afterward.

Drowns In Trying To Rescue Friend

VERMILION (AP)—Clement Kemmer, 49, a Cleveland fire department member for 23 years, was drowned in Lake Erie Thursday trying to save the life of a friend who slipped from a boat into rough water.

John J. Kappus fell from his 36-foot launch near the mouth of the Vermilion River, but was pulled safely by two other men on deck.

Kemper, who dived in to try to save Kappus, had disappeared when the three started looking for him.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Capt. Olin Hill of the Florida highway patrol said he wishes more drivers would use the common sense of Frank Marion Howe.

Howe, 82, recently turned in his driver's license of his own accord with the explanation: "I'm just too old to drive."

Attorneys Ready New Attempt To Free Sheppard

CLEVELAND (AP)—Attorneys are preparing an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court in the final round of a legal fight to obtain freedom for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, convicted wife slayer.

Dr. Richard Sheppard, brother of the Bay Village osteopath who was convicted of slaying his wife, Marilyn, on July 4, 1954, said Atty. William J. Corrigan would file the appeal soon. He said that other attorneys collaborated with Corrigan in preparing the appeal.

Corrigan was in charge of the defense forces at Dr. Samuel Sheppard's murder trial. The defendant now is serving a life term in the Ohio penitentiary.

Paul Herbert, Columbus attorney and former lieutenant governor, was one of those working with Corrigan on preparing the appeal to the Supreme Court. He handled Dr. Sam's unsuccessful appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Corrigan assisted Herbert from the sidelines on the appeal to the state court.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Democrats and Republicans have come pretty close to asking voters to choose between two teams of national managers rather than between conflicting political parties.

The two parties—judged by the promises in their campaign platforms and not by the corny and heated-over oratory of their convention speakers—think pretty much alike.

What each seems to be saying is: "We're nicer than they are and we can do everything better."

There is no basic difference in the promises made. Both pledged to retain the progress and programs of the New Deal and Fair Deal as extended by the Eisenhower administration. Both offered some improvements. Neither proposed radical changes.

If this seems a strange complacency in political parties seeking authority to run the country, the explanation is simple enough: the nation itself is pretty complacent because of its record-high employment, wages and savings, the relative stability in living costs.

This isn't how the politicians will be presenting their case from now until the Nov. 6 election. Rather they will sound like the Hatfields and McCoy's.

To hear them, their party has a monopoly on wisdom, integrity and simple decency while the other is a collection of oafs, hammerheads and assorted rascals.

If you have any doubts about the similarity between the Democratic and Republican parties, ask yourself: if you were a Frenchman or a Russian reading the platforms, what differences could you discern?

Fortunately for the country the two presidential candidates—President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson—are both moderate, temperate, restrained. Both have a knowledge of the world that extends far beyond the shores of the United States.

Either man, if elected, could be depended upon to work with earnest good will to carry out, as best he can, the promises made in the party platforms. But either's leadership would be limited by certain political realities which sometimes get overlooked during a campaign.

These are some of the realities: The political parties differ less between the official parties as a whole than within the parties themselves. Both are generally made up of liberals, conservatives, and reactionaries. At the moment the conservatives dominate both parties and give them their tone and philosophy.

The real test of how much either party can make good on its promises will come after election day and in Congress. Most of the promises—if they are to be kept—will have to be translated into law.

It is in Congress that the conflicting elements within the winning party will attempt to make good on the promises or whittle them down or ignore them. It is there that a president's program can be made or broken.

Experiment Proves Dry Ice Lesson

COLUMBUS (AP) — Seven-year-old Gary Wineberger of Columbus learned—the hard way—that Webster's Dictionary is usually right.

Webster says water will absorb its own volume of carbon dioxide and that any dioxide in excess of the water's volume will create a powerful pressure.

To test Webster, Gary dropped a chunk of dry ice (solidified carbon dioxide) into a quart jar of water and capped the bottle.

Gary was reported in "good" condition in White Cross Hospital after surgery for deep face cuts.

Savings Bonds Boomed In July

July sales of Series E and H Bonds in Ohio were the highest July sales since 1949 and showed a gain of just over three quarters of a million dollars above the same month in 1955.

Across the nation sales of these two Savings Bonds totaled $443 million for a gain of five million dollars.

Judge William D. Radcliff, county chairman, reported that sales for Pickaway County were $45,613 and that sales of the small denomination E Bonds were some 8 percent ahead of the first half of 1955.

"The increase in the sale of the $25 to $200 E Bonds certainly indicates the success of the Payroll Savings Plan. Many of the nation's workers are finding this installment method of buying bonds to be the easiest, most automatic way to save today. Another indication of the success of the bond program is that the dollar volume of E and H Bonds outstanding has reached a new high of $41 billion."

Vinton County has already reached its 1956 sales quota while Holmes, Ottawa and Mercer are leaders among some 26 counties.

Due to increased activity in the payroll savings market, the industrial counties of Summit and Montgomery are showing excellent sales gains over the same period of 1955.

Ike Bid To Dems Brings Cheers

COW PALACE, San Francisco (AP) — One of the biggest cheers President Eisenhower drew from the GOP convention with his acceptance speech Thursday night came in response to an invitation for "discerning Democrats" to pitch in with the Republicans.

It was an interpolation Eisenhower put into the text of his speech as it had been distributed to newsmen.

In the text, the speech read: "There are still enough injustices to be erased, still enough needless sufferings to be cured, to provide careers for all the young crusaders we can produce or find. 'We want them all.'"

To this, the President added: "Republicans, independents, discerning Democrats, come on in and help us!"

Slim Clues Trap Hit-Skip Autoist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A head from a broken necklace and peculiar humming noise in the motor of Raymond Clemmons' automobile were instrumental in sending him to prison Thursday for a hit-and-run death.

Police said his car made an unusual noise because the front end had been damaged, just as a witness to the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Julianne M. Laursen described it.

Mrs. Laursen described it. Mrs. Laursen admitted striking her, fleeing in panic, returning, placing her body in his car and dumping it in an alley.

Most of the beads of her necklace, broken by the impact, were found where she was struck.

One matching bead was under the floor mat of Clemmons' car.

Much-Wed Couple Split Up Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Betty Fern Heehleis has obtained a court order for her second, third and fifth husband to pay her $450 monthly alimony, pending trial of her separate maintenance suit.

That's right. She and Anthony C. Heehleis, a steel contractor, were married twice because the first union was effected before her divorce from a previous hubby had become final. Then she divorced Heehleis, married another man, divorced him, and remarried Heehleis.

The latest suit is contested. He started it with a cruelty allegation.

Meeting Called To Talk Road Finance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Highway Director S. O. Linzell has called a meeting Aug. 31 of Ohio's mayors and county commissioners to discuss highway financing under the new federal highway program.

The new law provides for federal payment of 90 per cent of construction costs on interstate highways.

Meanwhile, Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner announced postponement of a meeting of big city mayors fighting for equal state and city sharing of the 10 per cent remainder on urban portions of interstate highways. Linzell wants the cities to pay the full 10 per cent.

Sensenbrenner said the mayors' meeting, scheduled originally for Aug. 31—the date announced for Linzell's meeting—will be held some time after the highway director's conference.

Gates Swing Open On 1956 State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 102nd Ohio State Fair opened its gates today to what Sam C. Cashman, fair manager, predicts will be a record first-day crowd of close to 100,000.

Star attraction is singing cowboy Roy Rogers, his wife Dale Evans and their troupe, performing in afternoon and evening shows.

Other top features of the "open-er" will be the dedication of the new Youth Center at the fairgrounds on the north side of Columbus, a youth talent contest at the special events tent, a Junior Fair queen's ball at the Youth Center and an evening fireworks show.

The eight-day fair will offer "something for everybody," Cashman said. For the exhibitors there is $111,183 in prize money. For the curious (and the stout-footed) there are exhibits and displays ranging from hogs to model houses and from the world's largest light bulb to guided missiles.

For the sports fan there are five days of harness racing, plus auto racing and wrestling.

The for musically inclined there is Art Mooney and his orchestra plus 112 bands from 57 Ohio counties. The bands will take turns playing at three locations on the grounds. The 320-piece All-Ohio Boys Band will also make an appearance.

Gates of the fair swing open at 6 a. m. daily and exhibit buildings will open at 8 a. m.

What Good Is Oil If Water Needed?

GEORGETOWN, Tex. (AP) — "It's just revolting," said Mrs. W. H. Percy when drillers struck oil instead of water on her property near here.

"My grass, shrubs and trees are dying in the drought and still I have no water," she said. "I can't even run my air conditioner on oil."

Mrs. Percy began drilling for water when her well went dry this summer.

"But what if it's a paying well?" she was asked.

"That's different. Then I can afford to drill another water well," she said.

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

As Autumn approaches, conditions will become more favorable for the occurrence and spread of late blight in potatoes and tomatoes. It already has hit two areas in Southeast Ohio and undoubtedly is present in other sections of the state, according to B. F. Janson, Ohio State University extension plant pathologist.

Cool, cloudy weather with night temperatures below 60 degrees, heavy dews and rains favor spread of the organism. Under extremely favorable conditions, Janson says, late blight can spread through a field of potatoes or tomatoes in 24 hours.

Past experience has shown, the plant pathologist explains, that losses from late blight will be small in fields of potatoes or tomatoes that have been sprayed regularly with an adequate amount of suitable fungicide.

Recommended fungicides include 3 pounds of zineb or maneb; 6 pounds of a 50 percent fixed copper, 3 quarts of nabam plus 1 1/2 pounds of zinc sulfate per acre; or 150 gallons of an 8-8-100 Bordeaux mixture. Gardeners may use a general purpose dust containing one or more of these materials, Janson says.

If late blight appears in your area, Janson suggests you apply one of the copper sprays every 7 to 10 days, or spray every 4 or 5 days with one of the organics, such as zineb, maneb, or nabam. Bordeaux mixture is a copper spray and has some definite advantages when used on potatoes in late August and September, he says.

If you have a green-thumb problem, bring it to the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station Wednesday, September 5. That's the day station officials

He'll Bet $5,000 On Ike's Health

MILAN, Tenn. (AP)—A Tennessee delegate to the GOP convention offers to bet $5,000 that President Eisenhower, if reelected, will live out his four-year term.

"Put up or shut up," says Guy Garwood, a wealthy real estate dealer.

He deposited the money in the Peoples-Farmers Bank here and got a notarized document stating that the money was in the bank to back his opinion of Eisenhower's health against any better anywhere.

He figures the odds at even money. Anyone taking the bet must put up $5,000, too. Bank cashier George Culbreath said the winner collects the $10,000 plus any accumulated interest.

Ike Backs Up Ban On China Trips

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has given his "full concurrence" to a State Department policy of refusing to grant valid passports to newsmen to visit Red China.

In an Aug. 7 statement, the State Department noted that some American newsmen had been invited by the Peiping regime to visit Communist China. The State Department promptly turned thumbs down on allowing them to go.

It gave as its reason Red China's delay in freeing Americans now in jail, in violation of a previous pledge to allow them to go home quickly.

Nearly half the herd are sons, daughters grandchildren or near relatives of the $210,000 Hillcrest Larry 12, Matson said.

Reds Ignored Chance To Prove Peace Talk At Suez Parley

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Suez Canal conference has ended with the security of a Western lifeline still in doubt, and danger on the horizon.

The conference was a golden opportunity for the Russians to prove the sincerity of their "peaceful coexistence" talk. If Moscow wanted to avoid a chain of events seriously affecting Europe's future and peace prospects, it would have lined up with the West in seeking an iron-clad guarantee for continued international access to the canal. The Russians did not. They used the controversy as a weapon to belabor the Western nations as "colonialists" and to marshal the frightened neutralism of Asia.

The 22-nation conference had the effect, probably, of staving off an explosion in the Middle East, but big as that accomplishment was, its results could be all too temporary.

Egypt's President Nasser will be told by the 18-nation majority of the London conference that they favor international operation of an Egyptian-owned company. This most certainly will be rejected by Nasser.

The Egyptians might accept the idea of the Russians—joined by India, Ceylon and Indonesia—for Egyptian operation of the Suez Canal. But this cannot meet the demands of the West. Can the big Western powers give in now?

There must, at the least, be more negotiations, more marking time, and even, possibly, more economic pressure on Egypt to retreat from its position. The London conference was just a beginning.

Apart from the importance of the Suez to world trade, the West cannot lose sight of the fact that

Specialist Liff, son of Earl Liff, is assigned to Tank Company of the division's 47th Regiment. He entered the Army in January 1954 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He attended Darby High School.

LeMay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. LeMay, 69 S. High St., is a driver in Tank Company of the division's 47th Regiment.

He entered the Army in May 1954 and completed basic training at Fort Knox. He attended Mount Sterling High School.

A Circleville Air Force officer, Lt. William J. Ingler Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ingler, Sr. of Sarasota, Fla., has reported to Vance Air Force Base, Okla., for basic multi-engine pilot training.

Upon successful completion of the five month school, Lt. Ingler will receive the coveted silver wings of an Air Force pilot. The flying training phase of the school consists of transition, or the fundamentals of the operation of B-25 aircraft; formation; navigation; and instrument training, or the type flying done when visual contact with the ground is impossible.

Vance Air Force Base, located in the historic "Cherokee Strip" country of northwestern Oklahoma, will soon be converted to an all-jet program where future pilot students will receive training in a more advanced type aircraft.

Lt. Ingler holds a degree in business administration from Ohio State University. His wife is the former Nancy Watt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Watt of Circleville.

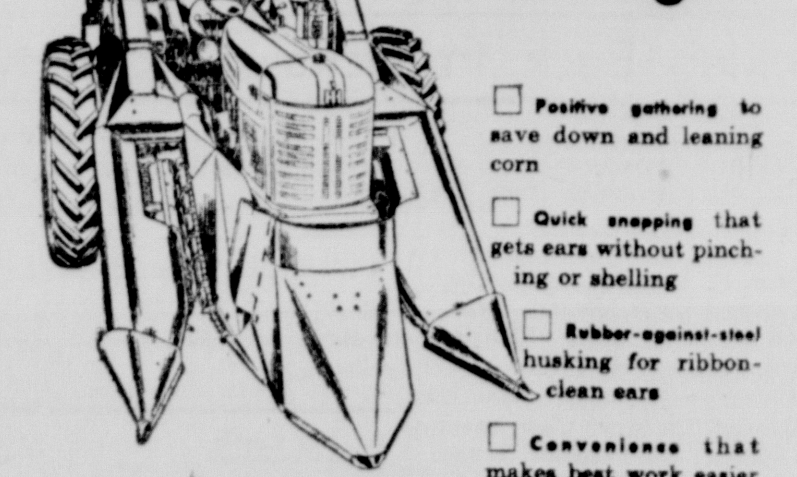

Major and Mrs. J. H. Towers and family spent several days visiting Major Towers' mother, Mrs. O. J. Towers of E. Union St., before leaving for his new assignment. He has been assigned to the staff and faculty, Artillery and GM School, Ft. Sill, Okla.

Major Towers has been stationed in Heidelberg, Germany, and was stationed in Rochester, N. Y., for 2 1/2 years preceding his new assignment.

Today's Traveler Choses Wardrobe Of Cotton Frocks

Travel cottons, bright and bold, are going places this year. Brilliant plain colors, cool sheers, a kaleidoscope of prints offer a wide variety of vacation styles, reports the National Cotton Council.

Designers are using cotton in new ways for modern travelers. Cotton knits are smartly tailored, lightweight cottons are given feminine frills, and day-and-date frocks are brilliant in glowing prints.

Wrinkle-resistant knits are styled in sports separates, day dresses and ensembles, and date sheaths, all strikingly coordinated in textures and colors.

A complete wardrobe of separates can be planned in these knits. Shorts, camisoles and slacks are shown for active sports hours.

For travel and town wear, the slim sheath with its own color-coordinated coat answers many fashion needs.

Contrasting the tailored mood, are the lightweight woven cottons, which designers cut into slim or full-skirted dresses.

For sportswear, dotted swiss is ruffled into a short dressmaker type beach shirt with decorative ruffled sleeves. This is worn over a fully-lined dotted swiss bathing suit.

Combinations of lightweight cottons with rich, heavy laces are the choice of designers who use cottons lavishly and for the smartest evening designs.

Designers also tuck cotton into shell patterns, they pleat it, ruffle it and decorate it with rhinestones and beads for late-hour glamour.

Strength Through Trial

CHRIST'S EXAMPLE TEACHES US HOW TO RESIST TEMPTATION

Scripture—Matthew 4:1-11; James 1.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IF WE READ the headlines in the newspapers we are likely to think that there are more temptations in today's world than ever before in history, and that more people yield to them than ever before. Even more children seem to indulge in crime than in any previous generation.

Be that as it may, even Jesus Christ was subject to temptation, but He remained sinless. As He sets us the example in all our actions by His stainless life while He was on earth, He also shows us how we can resist Satan.

Small children as well as older ones meet with temptations. A child may be tempted to steal money that is carelessly left within reach; or he may be assailed by a desire to take a package of candy from the store in which his mother is shopping or some fruit from a stall.

If he is detected he will be

was: "It is written, man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

Then Satan took Jesus up to a pinnacle on the top of the temple, saying that if He should throw Himself down, angels from God His Father would see that He came to no harm. Jesus said, "It is written again, thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God."

A third time Satan tried, taking Jesus to the top of a high mountain where there was a view of the world in all its glory, saying: "All these things will I give Thee if Thou wilt fall down and worship me."

"Get thee hence, Satan, for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve," Christ answered. Satan went away then, and Christ's hunger for food was assuaged by angels.

In His Epistle to the 12 tribes of Israel who were scattered in punished, and if not he will have a feeling of guilt. His conscience will tell him it was wicked to steal and whatever he thought it would.

MEMORY VERSE

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tried he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love Him."—James 1:12.

If he has been brought up by honest parents or taught that when temptations come he will be helped if he asks Jesus to give him strength to resist, it will banish the impulse to do wrong.

The phrase, "The temptation of Christ" seems strange. How could Jesus be tempted? He had no evil desires, and this tempting took place immediately after His baptism and before He had entered on His earthly ministry.

Jesus' temptations were three in number. The first came to Him after He had spent 40 days and nights in the wilderness alone without food. Naturally, as a man, He was hungry. Satan appeared at His side and said that if He really was God's Son and holy, He could change the stones at His feet into bread to satisfy His craving for food. His reply

Milwaukee Holds With Win Over Pesky Phillies

Newcombe Defeats Redlegs; He's First With 20 Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Milwaukee is starting to show the strain of pressure, as some folks say, someone forgot to tell the Braves about it. Particularly Bobby Thomson, Hank Aaron and Johnny Logan.

They looked as though they didn't have a care in the world Thursday night, protecting their two-game National League with a comeback 11-5 win over the pesky Philadelphia Phillies. Thomson's seventh major league grand slammer tied it in the fourth and Aaron and Logan then homered as the Braves scored seven in the fifth.

The Phillies are the only club in the league with an edge (10-7) over Milwaukee.

The "pressure" talk started when Milwaukee dropped a 2-1 decision to the last-place New York Giants Wednesday.

Big Don Newcombe of Brooklyn put the suddenly revived Giants in a different light by becoming the first to win 20 in the majors this season, choking off the homer happy Cincinnati Redlegs 6-5. The third-place Redlegs set a club mark with three homers that topped their season total to 183.

The Giants, meanwhile, came within 1 1/2 games of leaving the cellar by defeating the seventh-place Chicago Cubs twice, 2-1 and 8-5. Fourth-place St. Louis also swept a pair, beating Pittsburgh 3-0 and 3-2 in a two-nighter.

New York's Yankees were belted 8-3 and 6-4 by the Chicago White Sox, with Nellie Fox getting seventh straight hits. Second-place Cleveland was spilled 2-1 by Boston as Mel Parnell beat Bob Lemon in a pair of three-hitters. Baltimore beat Detroit 3-0 and Washington defeated Kansas City 5-3.

Southpaw Curt Simmons, who had won seven in a row, took his second straight defeat after Thomson's 17th home run—first since July 26—overcame matched a 4-0 Phillie lead set up on Stan Lopata's 26th and 27th home runs.

Ray Crone gained the decision, his 10th victory, with relief help. Duke Snider and Carl Furillo each drove in three runs for the Dodgers, with Snider's second double scoring Snider with the clinching run in the ninth. Johnny Klippstein lost his 10th after Wally Post's 26th homer, with two on, had tied things at 3-all in the first.

Frank Robinson also hit his 32nd and Ed Bailey added his 22nd off Newk, who fanned six in his eight-hitter.

Young Wally Moon pushed into the NL Batting lead with 4-for-8 including a two-run triple in the eighth that gave him a .335 average. Wilmer Mizell fanned seven and gave just four hits in the opener, riding in on Ray Katt's two-run homer. Bobby Morgan's pinch single with the bases-loaded in the ninth won the nightcap for reliever Jackie Collum.

A ninth-inning single by Daryl Spencer broke a 1-1 tie and gave Johnny Antonelli a pitching duel with bonus kid Moe Drabowsky as the Giants won the opener.

They scored eight in the nightcap fourth while Max Surkont held the Cubs to one hit until they uncorked five runs in the seventh.

Purina Crowned Mosquito Champs

Winners Defeat Eshelman Nine In Free Scoring Contest, 23-4

Purina Kid Baseballers were crowned 1956 champions of the Ted Lewis Park Mosquito League Thursday night following a 23 to 4 triumph over Eshelmans.

Prior to Thursday night's contest the best of three game play-off series between the two teams was knotted at one victory each.

Showing quite a bit of hustle and spirit, the champions tallied all 23 runs in the first three innings of play. Big inning for the winners was the third when they pushed 16 markers across the plate.

Due to a 19 run lead marked up by the Purina crew, the championship battle was called at the end of four innings.

WINNING pitcher Jeff Lutz mastered the Eshelman batters

Snead Eyes Fresh St. Paul Triumph

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Sam Snead, who has won more money in the St. Paul Open than any other professional since the tournament started in 1930, had his eyes on another potful today and 144 players teed-off in the second round of the 1956 event at Keller Golf Club.

The West Virginia slammer, who has pocketed just a little bit less than $12,000, shared the first round lead at 6-under-par 66 with Bud Hoscher of Apple Valley, Calif.

Deadlocked a stroke off the pace at 67 are Dave Douglas, Newark, Del.; Ted Rhodes, Chicago; Howie Johnson, Houston, Texas; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and Fred Haas of New Orleans.

Defending champion Tommy Bolt finished with a 70.

Then darkness called a halt in lightless Wrigley Field, Gene Baker hit a grand-slam in the Cub rally.

Fox drove in four runs for the White Sox in the opener, two on a triple as Bob Keegan went all the way for his fourth victory. The Sox scored three in the first inning of each game, adding three more in the nightcap third against reliever Tommy Byrne to nail it.

Mickey Mantle socked his 43rd homer, after a 10-game slump, to stay five games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace.

Dixie Howell, who hadn't started one in the majors since 1949 with Cincinnati, lasted the better part of six innings to win his fifth in the afterpiece. Rip Coleman and Bob Turley were the losers as the Yankees dropped their sixth in nine games.

Jim Piersall's sacrifice fly, after three walks had loaded the bases in the eighth, beat Lemon and the Indians. Rocky Colavito homered for one of the hits off Parnell. Jim Hegan got the other two.

Ray Moore three-hit the Tigers for seven innings, then injured his shoulder sliding into second. Hee Brown gave one hit the rest of the way. George Kell batted in all three runs with two singles. Frank Lary lost it.

Roy Sievers matched the Washington club mark he set last year with his 25th homer while Chuck Stobbs five-hit the A's for his 12th victory.

Newk Scores 20th, Wants Try At Yanks

CINCINNATI (AP) — Don Newcombe, the Brooklyn Dodgers' sometimes testy pitcher, appears ready to tear up the records of the all-time pitching greats of world champions.

Newk stopped the big bats of the Cincinnati Redlegs Thursday night, 6-5, to become the major leagues' first 20-game winner this season.

It marked the third time he has gained 20 victories. In 1951 he had a 20-9 record and last year posted a 20-5 mark. He has been beaten only six times this year.

Only two modern day Brooklyn pitchers ever achieved 20-game seasons. Burleigh Grimes of spitball fame did it four times and Dazzy Vance, the speedball artist, three times.

Manager Walt Alston was beaming all over after Newcombe's performance.

"With the chance of starting nine more times, he has a fine chance to do better than ever before," said Alston.

"All I want to do is to win more than 20 games, the National League pennant and then beat those Yankees again," said Newcombe.

He shut off the power house Reds three times Thursday night, just when it looked as though they would explode.

The Brooks, however, led by Duke Snider and Carl Furillo, managed to eke out victory and strengthen their hold on second place.

Next 7 Days Vital In Mantle's Try For Homer Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Can Mickey Mantle break, or even tie, Babe Ruth's home run record? The next seven days—the last week of August—may tell.

The young New York Yankee slugger has seven games remaining in August, and with those seven he must build up a quick cushion against the Babe's unmatched finishing kick—which produced 17 homers in September to complete the old Yankee Bomber's sturdy 60 record of 1927.

Going into tonight's game with the Chicago White Sox at Yankee Stadium, Mantle has 43, matching Ruth's total at the end of August and five games ahead of the Babe's terrific season pace. But a five-game edge won't mean a thing come September.

Ruth walloped six home runs in the first seven games of September, and then capped it all with four in the last five games of the season.

Mantle's 43rd came in the ninth inning of the nightcap Thursday as the Yankees dropped a doubleheader to the White Sox 8-3 and 6-4. It was his first since August 14—covering 10 games.

Tackle Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns is putting in his 11th season in the National Football League this year.

First base coach Jake Pitler of the Brooklyn Dodgers began his career in organized baseball as a shortstop with Jackson, Mich., in 1913.

Gets Ace Before Flag Even Placed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Louis Moore of Columbus made a hole in one on a hole not yet marked by a flag.

Paul Kerr, manager of Beaver Ridge Golf Club, reports he was changing the location of the cup on the No. 1 green when a ball rolled up and dropped in the new hole.

Kerr said it was the first ace on the 251-yard hole in five years.

Smith To Risk Lightweight Title Tonight

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Lightweight champion Wallace Bud Smith and challenger Joe Brown meet for the title tonight with confidence the keynote and the outcome more unpredictable than usual.

For the 27-year-old Cincinnati-born champion, it will be the second defense of the crown he won from Jimmy Carter in June, 1955. He turned back Carter's attempt to regain the title last October.

And it represents the opportunity of a lifetime for the 30-year-old challenger from New Orleans, who whipped Smith in a nontitle 10-rounder at Houston last May.

Smith, loser of two other non-championship fights this year against promising Larry Boardman and former welterweight king Tony DeMarco, has a chance to enhance his standing as the 135-Brown is ranked only eighth among contenders, he is regarded as a prime test.

The odds-makers have refrained from installing either Negro boxer as favorite. It's 5-6 and take your pick.

Smith's record shows 33 victories, 14 losses and 5 draws with 18 knockouts. His left hook is regarded as one of the best in the business and is expected to give Brown the most trouble.

The fancy-boxing Brown has a record of 60 victories, 14 losses and 8 draws, but he has shown a tendency to "blow" the big ones.

Browns Underdogs In Tonight's Tilt With Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Cleveland Browns and the Los Angeles Rams, who played for the national football championship last winter, collide again tonight in Memorial Coliseum. A crowd of 35,000 is anticipated for the exhibition game.

The World Champion Browns, curiously enough, are 2 1/2 point underdogs. Los Angeles blew an exhibition game last week to the Washington Redskins, 38-14.

The Rams will start their rookie quarterback, Rudy Bukich, former

Ergo, the practical politicians came to Nixon's support not because they love Nixon—politicians never love anyone but the voters—but because they recognize the devastating possibilities of a split in the party in this election which, no matter what is said for publication, the men who ring doorbells know will be close. And even if Adlai Stevenson never refers to Ike's health, the debate between the Republican and Democratic doctors on the ileum has done its work in developing a doubt as to whether Ike can carry the load.

So the object of the dump Nixon effort is not so much to get rid of Nixon as to get rid of Eisenhower. It is a diversionary movement designed to hit the jugular of the Republicans. This is recognized by the professionals of both parties. If the Republican Convention should, despite the assurance of about 900 votes for Nixon, decide to dump him, the candidate will not be Christian Herter, or Harold Stassen or Sherman Adams. It could be Tom Dewey.

Albert Einstein, not much of a politician to be sure, once wrote: "Who can doubt that Moses was a better leader of humanity than Machiavelli?"

Of course, to so-called practical politicians, this is heresy, besides Einstein never was qualified to ring doorbells.

Although the Browns beat the Rams for the title by 24 points, factors that have installed the Rams as the exhibition choice apparently are Coach Paul Brown's inclination to take preparatory games lightly; the retirement of Brown quarterback Otto Graham, and the likelihood that the Rams will rebound from their sorry showing last week, following settlement of their threat to strike if they didn't get paid for playing the exhibition schedule.

Margaret (Wiffl) Smith was only 18 when she won the women's divisional titles of the All-American and World golf tournaments in Chicago in 1955.

30 District 4-H Members Share In State Fair

Junior Section Always Feature Of Big Display

3,000 Youths Slated To Participate From All Over State

Approximately 30 boys and girls from Pickaway County will be among them during the next few days when more than 3,000 4-H Club members from all over Ohio join in the big program of the Ohio State Junior Fair.

The Junior Fair, by tradition, is the top feature of the big state exhibition that opens today in Columbus. The program at the state fairgrounds will continue for the remainder of the month.

For the past several days, Ohio's rural boys and girls have been devoting much of their time to last-minute preparations for their role in the vast display.

The estimate on the number of 4-H members participating was made by H. W. Harshfield, Ohio 4-H Club leader.

MORE THAN 1,000 4-Hers are ready to compete in the livestock show ring. Nearly 100 judging teams will try to judge cattle, swine, sheep, vegetables or poultry as the experts see them. Fifteen county 4-H bands will present concerts for state fair visitors.

Girls will model dresses they have made, present homemaking demonstrations, or invade the boys' world in an effort to show them how vegetables should be grown.

Forty-five activity classes are open to 4-H Club members, Harshfield pointed out. Boys and girls can compete for the title of "Health King" or "Health Queen" representing Ohio rural youth. The tractor rodeo has returned to the 1956 Ohio State Fair.

"We try to encourage as many Ohio 4-Hers to participate as we possibly can," he concluded. "Our entire 4-H program is directed at giving the youth of Ohio experience and clean, wholesome entertainment. Participation in the Ohio State Junior Fair is another link in the chain of 4-H fun and 4-H experience."

WEEKS MILLS, Maine — Farmer Leslie Randall inadvertently ran his tractor over a hornets nest while mowing hay. In

Martin-Lewis 'Split-Up' Brief; More Pictures Are In Works

HOLLYWOOD — "It's a funny split-up," Dean Martin said, tilted back in a chair beside his swimming pool. "It doesn't seem like we've split. We're just going out on our own. Just want to prove something to ourselves, is all."

The "split" is, of course, his much discussed parting with Jerry Lewis — a severing which, Dean indicated, may not be nearly as final as generally supposed.

Take "Pardners," their latest movie release and certainly not their best.

"It's doing 30 per cent more business than our other pictures, which grossed an average of four million," Dean said. "People think it's our last picture." If that is the public assumption, he added: "We're cheating."

In the cans awaiting release is another Martin & Lewis picture.

Big Reception Was For Hot Dogs

LONDON — There was ceremony suitable for a visiting foreign minister when the big Pan American plane landed at London Airport Thursday. The place swarmed with officials.

They were interested in the cargo compartment. Attendants rolled out 1,000 pounds of frozen hot dogs from Chicago.

In a ship in the port of London were an additional 24,000 pounds of frankfurters, which will be given to Londoners, who know nothing about proper hot dogs, at a big fair next week.

On hand to meet the plane, and to certify that the hot dogs were genuine, was A. P. Davies of Chicago, director of the livestock section of the American Meat Institute.

Brief Storm Hits Cleveland Area

CLEVELAND — Wind, rain and a little hail pelted northeast Ohio during a brief storm late Thursday, knocking down some electrical power lines and flooding streets for a time.

The storm chased merry-makers at the Lake county Fair in Painesville as it blew down several tents and muddled the grounds.

The frenzy, the tractor was wrecked and Randall suffered a broken leg.

This Otter Likes A Different Menu

LANSING, Mich. — Fishermen generally dislike otters because of their reputation as fish killers.

But the State Conservation Department reports it has an otter with a positive dislike for fish. The 5-month-old lady's favorite dish is hamburger but she will settle for bread and milk rather than fish.

The otter is under study by Dr. S. C. Whitlock, assistant chief of the game division.

Auto, House Crash On Idaho Highway

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho — A house and a car collided on the highway in a hit-run accident.

Good Hope Wreckers Co. was moving a house in the Hayden Lake area. The movers said a car came along, banged into the house and drove off with a broken windshield. The house wasn't damaged.

Ike To Visit Ohio If He Makes Swing

SAN FRANCISCO — C. William O'Neill, Republican candidate for Ohio governor, says President Eisenhower told him he would include Ohio if he makes campaigns trips into midwestern states.

O'Neill said the President told him Thursday he is opposed to political barnstorming by a chief executive. But he said the President added that he might make several one-day trips into key midwestern states.

Such trips would include visits to three or four states, possibly with speeches at airports, O'Neill said.

O'Neill and Vernon Thompson, Republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, spent 15 minutes with Eisenhower.

The Ohioan said Eisenhower told them he believes a president should not engage in political barnstorming but should devote most of his attention to his job.

Both O'Neill and Thompson said Eisenhower expressed interest in getting out a large vote in November. Both said the President told them he is just as interested in getting Republican governors elected as in getting a Republican Congress.

They said one reason for his interest in Republican governors is the fact that vacancies in the Senate are filled by governors through appointments.

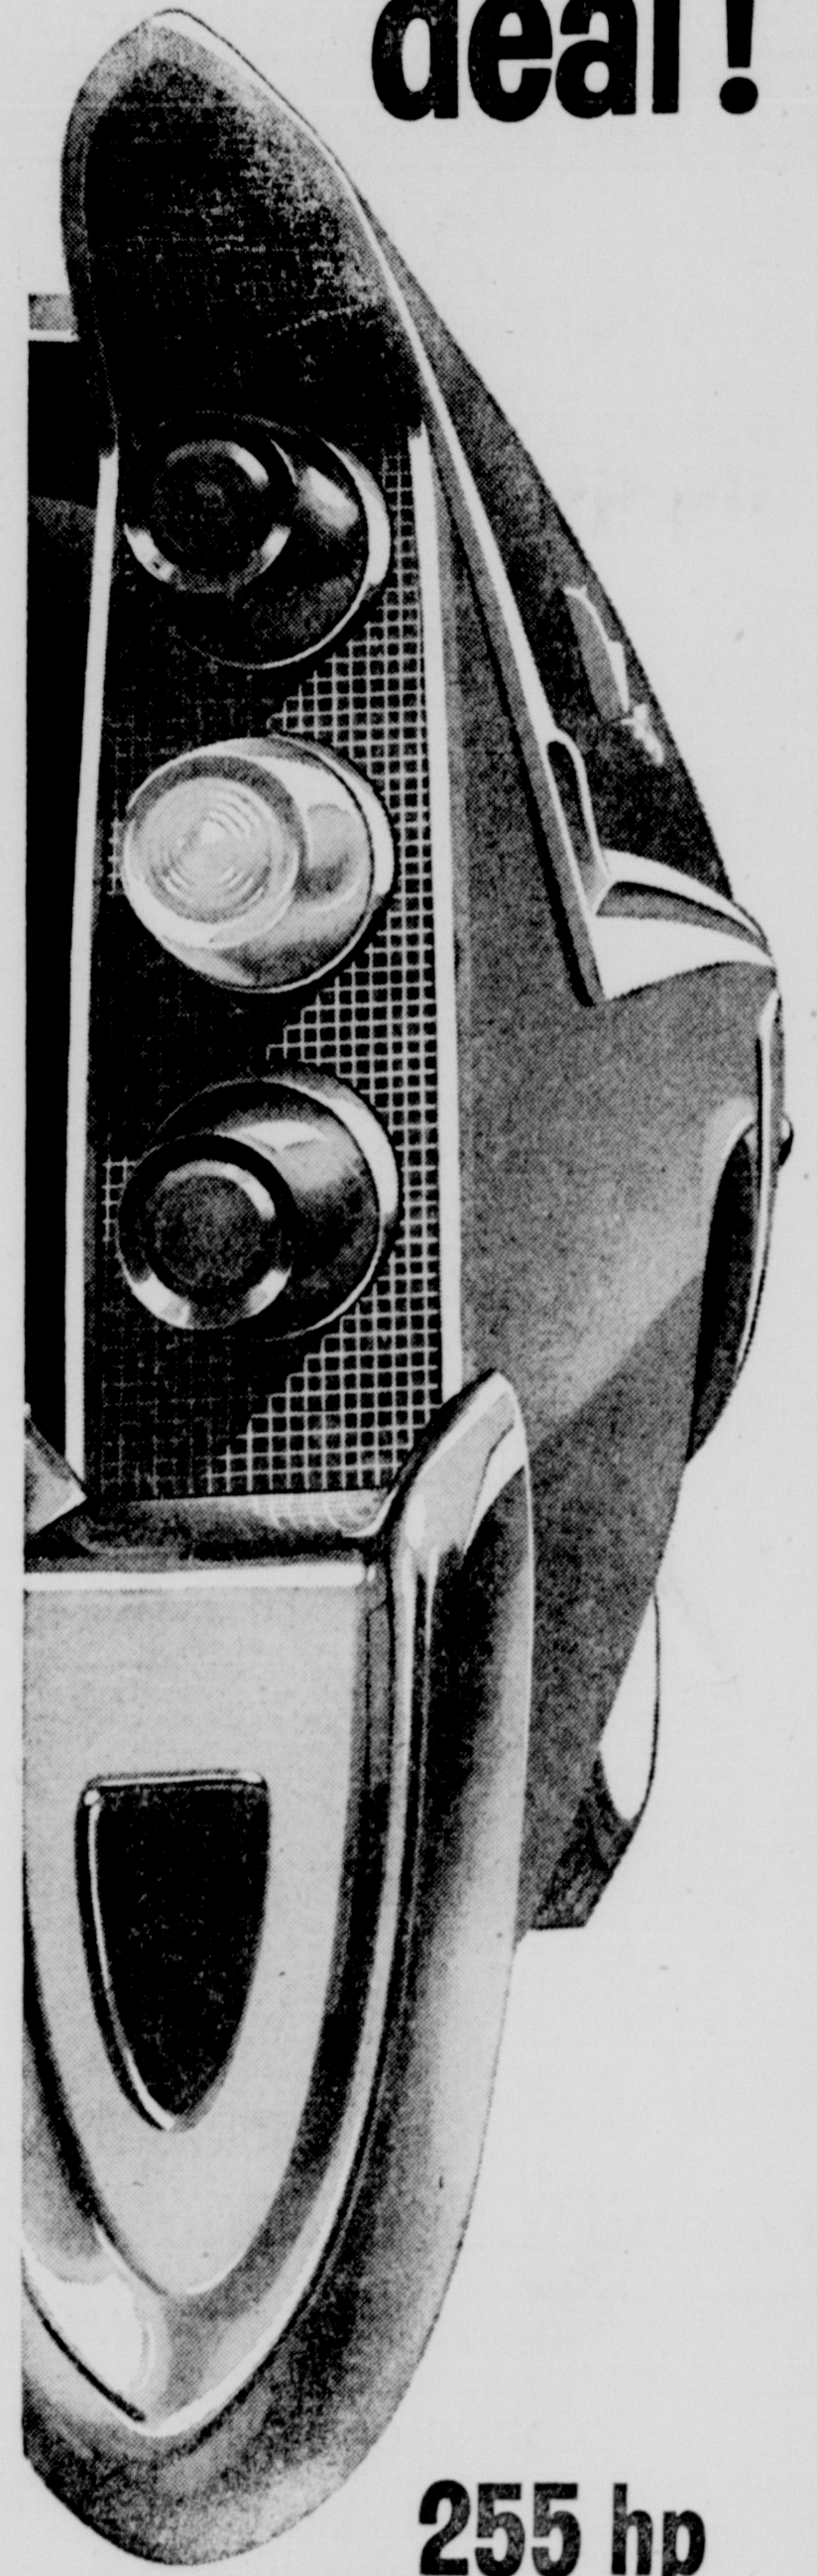

Rep. Clarence Brown was one of four vice chairmen elected at a meeting of the GOP National Committee Thursday. Brown is a national committeeman from Ohio. The committee reelected Leonard W. Hall of New York as party chairman.

Farewell To WAC

COLUMBUS — A special farewell ceremony honoring the 1956 Ohio company of the Women's Army Corps has been scheduled here for Sept. 12. The Ohio WACs will leave after the ceremony for basic training at Fort McClelland, Ala.
